SENATE GROUP ACTS ON LOCAL AID SHORTAGE

Unit Tells D. C. Heads to Get Estimate at Budget Bureau.

DONOVAN HITS DENIAL OF PAY RAISE TO 3,600

Bingham Favors $7,700 for New Playground; School Amounts Trimmed.

Faced with a District relief fund shortage in the remaining four months of this fiscal year, the Senate District appropriations subcommittee yesterday moved to meet the situation by authorizing the Commissioners to go to the Budget Bureau for estimates to tide over the emergency.

The additional estimates were authorized by Chairman Hiram Bingham when Public Welfare Director George S. Wilson testified the $33,000 now being spent every week for unemployment aid must be cut down or funds will be exhausted in May.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, will confer today with Mr. Wilson and Director Leroy Halbert, of the Emergency Relief group, on the additional amounts needed. Mr. Helbert said last night relief moneys will fall about $217,000 short, unless aid is sharply reduced.

School Building Design.

In an all-day session, the Senate group yesterday ran the whole gamut of District legislation, from proposed curtailment in school building design and special features, to the Public Utilities Commission's fight for metered operation of taxicabs in the District.

The taxicab dispute will be resumed at 10 a. m. today, when Peoples' Counsel Richmond B. Keech, who wants the committee to retain in the District bill its prohibition on meters, resumes the stand. Opposing him yesterday was Chairman William P. Littlepage, of the Citizens Joint Transportation Committee. He held the public is deprived of necessary safeguards by the present zone system, and drivers are unable to earn a living.

Maj. Donovan yesterday asked the committee to strike from the bill a section denying pay raises to some 3,600 District employes, under Civil Service reallocations. He argued the provision is highly discriminatory, in that it does not affect the great mass of Federal employes.

Disgrace to Capital.

Earlier yesterday, Senator Bingham declared local facilities for handling tubercular patients are "a disgrace to the National Capital." Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, former health commissioner of New York, agreed they are "a disgrace with a capital D."

During testimony by Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou, members of the committee declared in favor of restricting new District

Aviator Slain in Air; Companion Kills Self

Pilot Shot at Controls, Hurtling From Cockpit, and Student Is Suicide After Plane Crashes.

San Benito, Tex., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A falling plane carried two men to death here late today, one of them shot through the head as he sat at the controls in mid-air and the other, according to witnesses, a suicide after the crash.

The pilotless plane crashed on a landing field in the outskirts of San Benito.

Watchers at the field declared they heard a shot while the craft still was in the air. As it spiraled downward, the body of Leman Nelson, 33, pilot, hurtled from the cockpit to the ground. The ship straightened out, then nosed over as its wheels struck the ground.

Erin McCall, 20, student flier, climbed out and ran a short distance down the field. Then, witnesses said, they heard another shot and he fell dead. A pistol was found beside his body. Nelson had been shot in the back of the head.

District Attorney D. S. Purl, of Corpus Christi, Tex., said three shots had been fired from the pistol.

"We have not had time to question several witnesses, but from a few we learned the most important details," Purl said.

Nelson lived in La Feria, Tex., and McCall in San Benito. McCall had been studying flying with Nelson and the two had left the San Benito Airport in a plane only a short time before the ship crashed.

McCall, who was business manager of the high school football team at San Benito last year, undertook flying instruction with Nelson several weeks ago and had accumulated nine hours of flying time.

Earl Dodson, roommate of McCall, said the youthful flying student recently had been seriously ill and had appeared depressed. McCall was graduated from high school only a few months ago and since that time had not been employed.

MANY CAPITOL JOBS GO, AS SENATE CUTS

Economy for Staff Reducing Offset by Funds for Law Library and Repairs.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The tide of economy literally swept up to the doors of the Senate yesterday and caught in its flow the jobs of eight doorkeepers, one assistant secretary, not to speak of clerks, messengers and laborers.

The Senate wrote the cuts into its legislative supply bill and claimed a $43,000 saving for them. Then it proceeded to completely efface the economy by appropriating that much again for its law library, legislative reference work and repairs to the roof of its office building.

Yesterday's patronage changes may prove just an appetizer for the Senate when it gets back to the broader retrenchment problems involved in its conference report on the Treasury-Postoffice bill and its economy rider. The report may be called up this afternoon. The Bratton 5 per cent departmental cut is still at issue.

The reductions in the Senate staff, and cuts in compensation, ordered by the Senate yesterday, follow a study of Senate payrolls made by Senator Hayden (Democrat), Arizona, at the behest of Senate Democratic Leader Robinson.

Senator Hayden's investigation centered in the Sergeant-at-arms office, the Senate Postoffice and the Secretary's office.

Hayden found there are 38 messengers acting as doorkeepers, now on the roll at $2,040 a year, while only 30 are actually needed. The number was reduced accordingly, and salaries cut to $1,740 annually.

In the Senate postoffice, Senator Hayden found 21 employes all per-

Seth Richardson Named U. S. Judge by Hoover

(Associated Press.)

Seth W. Richardson, of North Dakota, an Assistant Attorney General, was named by President Hoover yesterday to be a Federal circuit judge for the Eighth Circuit, succeeding Judge Arba S. Van Valkenburgh, retired.

North Dakota Decides Against Leaving Union

Bismarck, N. Dak., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—North Dakota will not secede from the Union after all. Nor will the Flickertail State lead any movement to weld 39 States into a separate nation and leave the "industrial East" as proposed in State Senator W. E. Martin's resolution in the Legislature.

Today the time limit for its consideration expired, and members of the State affairs committee, showed no disposition to disturb the resolution. For weeks it had been considered as good as dead by legislative leaders.

Buildings Are Damaged By Heavy Chile Shocks

Iquique, Chile, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Severe earth shocks damaged a number of buildings here and in surrounding towns early today. They were felt throughout the nitrate area.

(Associated Press.)

An earthquake, apparently centered 4,000 miles southeast of Washington, was recorded yesterday on Georgetown University seismographs as having begun at 3:19:18 a. m., Eastern time, with maximum at 3:45 a. m., and ending at 6:15 a. m. The shocks were moderately strong.

DREXELS DOUBTFUL FELL WAS SUICIDE

Mrs. Ogden Mills' First Husband Found Stabbed in Wife's Presence.

Solo, Java, Feb. 23 (U.P.).—Police were mystified today by the death of John R. Fell, wealthy American and former husband of Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, victim of a strange stabbing in the presence of his wife at a hotel here.

They could discover no motive for the original version of suicide. Fell was found dying on the floor of his room on Tuesday night with a stab wound in his breast. Others in the hotel said they rushed in to find his wife weeping hysterically by the body.

One of the guests said he ran to Fell's room when he heard Mrs. Fell's outcries and found Fell dying. The guest told the authorities he heard Fell gasp his last words, "I did it myself—it's my fault."

The story of the evening as pieced together from other guests and servants in the hotel was that the Fells went to their room after remaining downstairs for some time Tuesday evening. Fell dined in his room.

His wife was standing near the bed with her back to him. Turning toward him, she said she saw him rise from his chair, stumble toward the bed and sink to the floor. She said she suddenly spied a large knife in his breast, which she pulled out before giving the alarm.

The hotel guest who then ran to the room found Mrs. Fell in a highly excited state, he testified, and unable to make a statement at first. She was unable to answer questions

Manchukuo and Russian Border Treaty Is Sought

Tokyo (Friday), Feb. 24 (U.P.).—Tentative Russo-Japanese negotiations have been started looking toward an agreement on Manchukuoan-Russian border locations and including local pledges of maintaining order along the border, a foreign office spokesman said today.

He declared Japan preferred such an understanding to a nonaggression pact, since it would be of a less formal nature.

JAPANESE DRIVE TO SEIZE JEHOL NOW UNDER WAY

Two Columns of Troops Begin Advance During Heavy Snowstorm.

EVACUATION DEMAND IS REFUSED BY CHINA

Defenders Place Artillery in Strategic Positions in Mountains.

(Associated Press.)

The big Japanese drive to conquer the province of Jehol is under way.

Despite a heavy snowstorm and temperatures running around 10 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, two columns of troops began the advance on the northeastern boundary of the province yesterday.

One of these columns, composed of the Sixth Japanese infantry division and the fourth cavalry brigade, set out from Tungliao, which is about 45 miles from the Jehol border in Manchuria.

The other column, composed of troops of the government of Manchukuo, moved on the northeastern Jehol frontier behind a screen of calvarymen, a Changchun dispatch said.

Refuse to Evacuate.

Shanghai (Friday), Feb. 24 (A.P.). Quickly replying to an ultimatum of Japan, the Chinese government today indignantly refused to accede to the Japanese demand that Chinese troops be evacuated from the Province of Jehol.

Peiping (Friday), Feb. 24 (A.P.).—An ultimatum demanding the evacuation of Chinese troops in Jehol was served by Japan on China today and at the same time Tang Yu-Lin, Chinese governor of the province, announced that a Japanese force of 30,000 launched a fierce onslaught on the City of Chaoyang last night after a three-day bombardment from the air.

Gov. Chang declared that the Japanese used infantry, artillery, tanks and aircraft in the attack, which was preceded by an air bombing preparation not only at Chaoyang but also at surrounding villages.

Detachments Withdrawn.

In the face of the onslaught, the governor's announcement said, the Chinese have withdrawn their outlying detachments in the Nanling-Peipiao area in order to form a stronger line at Chaoyang and along the hills overlooking the valley through which the Japanese must pass as the offensive develops.

Unofficially it was said that while the Japanese may find the capture of some border towns comparatively easy it will be far different when they attempt to penetrate the Jehol mountains under fire from strategically placed Chinese machine guns and artillery.

Hope, Ark., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—The First National Bank of Hope was held up and robbed of $24,000 late today by three unmasked white men, who fled in an automobile driven by a Negro chauffeur.

Arms Smuggling Plot Laid To Austrian Railway Head

Seefehlner Offered, Without Success, $21,000 to Union Leader to Let Shipment Through From Italy, Socialist Communique Charges.

Vienna, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A smuggling tale as weird as anything in fiction was revealed tonight as an aftermath of the Franco-British arms ultimatum to Austria.

The story involved an alleged attempt to bribe a whole railway union into systematic furtherance of wholesale arms shipments to Hungary through Austria from Italy.

No less a personage than the director general of the government railways himself—Egon Seefehlner—was accused in a Socialist party communique of having offered the leader of the Socialist Railwaymen's Union 150,000 schillings ($21,000) if he and his men would help a trainload of rifles and machine guns "to accidentally lose their way" and wander into Hungary.

This train would be loaded with arms which Chancellor Dollfuss on Tuesday promised would be shipped back to Italy. If the plan succeeded, according to the Socialist communique, there would be other trainloads coming regularly from Italy bound for Hungary, and there would be more money for the federal railroad unions.

The Socialist union leader indignantly refused the alleged offer and told his party leaders who informed Chancellor Dollfuss. The latter thereupon immediately suspended Herr Seefehlner and appointed Anton Schoepfer to succeed him. Schoepfer is a member of the Heimwehr.

France recently protested to Austria concerning a shipment of arms received from Italy and reportedly destined for Hungary. They suggested that the shipment might be in violation of the treaty of St. Germain, which forbade arms concentrations in the nations which lost the World War. Both Austria and Italy denied that there was anything irregular about the shipment.

Havana, Feb. 23 (U.P.).—Senora Nieves Peres Chaumont de Truffin, widow of Begino Truffin, who was a wealthy Havana sugar magnate, said tonight she would be married soon to Senator Thomas J. Walsh, prospective Attorney General in the Roosevelt Cabinet.

Senora Truffin said no definite date had been set for the wedding, but that it would take place at the United States Embassy as soon as Senator Walsh arrives from the United States, which she expects will be shortly.

The senora, a social leader now in her fifties, has long been in close

FATHER THREATENS TO CANCEL RANSOM

Boettcher to Withdraw His $60,000 Offer if Son Is Not Back Tomorrow.

Denver, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A nerve-wracked multimillionaire, Claude K. Boettcher, father of kidnaped Charles Boettcher 2d, threw the power of his millions today behind his personal promise to pay the demanded $60,000 ransom on condition his son be returned to him unharmed by midnight Saturday.

Failure of the abductors of the 31-year-old investment broker to accept that pledge and release him by the midnight deadline, Boettcher said, will result in withdrawal of all previous offers and the instigation of "such action as may then seem advisable."

While the father prepared his third signed statement to the kidnapers since young Boettcher was abducted the night of February 12, two city detectives, Harry Blair and Dave Chuven, sped by airplane to Sidney, Nebr., to aid authorities there in investigation of a "mystery house" where Boettcher may have been held captive.

Chief of Police A. T. Clark said Sidney authorities had requested him to send two officers to augment an insufficient Sidney police force in their search of the house, located in the heart of the community.

Within the last few days, Sidney officers said, they noticed activity at the house, which, until recently, had been closed.

In the rugged northern Colorado country, known by police to be a haven for liquor manufacturers, two sheriffs, Lee Templeton and W. W. Wyatt, led a dozen deputies in the Chalk Bluff region in the belief young Boettcher may be held captive in one of the numerous cave-like recesses.

Police, acting independently of the elder Boettcher, who has brushed aside official assistance, concentrated their hunt in that country because Boettcher's first attempt to keep an appointment with the kidnapers was in the vicinity of Derby, Colo., a village on the edge of the wild lands.

Stedman, Hero, Becomes Leviathan Staff Captain

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Capt. Giles C. Stedman, master of the American Merchant and hero of two thrilling sea rescues in the past few years, has been promoted to one of the prized berths of the United States Lines, staff captain of the flagship Leviathan, it was announced today.

He was navigator and chief officer of the Leviathan for several years until he was made master of the American Merchant, his first command. His most recent exploit was the rescue of 22 men from the sinking British freighter, Exeter City, in a gale January 20. In 1925 he was hero of the rescue of the crew of the Italian vessel Ignazio Florio. He was then chief officer of the President Harding.

Man Found Dead; Wife Is Detained

Jets of Gas Range Open; Long Gash on Head; Probe Is Begun.

Unusual circumstances in the case prompted police to start an investigation last night to determine the cause of the death of John F. Fitzgerald, 27, of 11 Third street northeast, who was found dead in the kitchen of his second floor apartment.

When the Fire Rescue Squad and Casualty ambulance arrived, they found the man lying on the floor, with the jets of the gas range open. He also had a long gash on his head.

His wife, Jean, said he was in the kitchen eating his dinner and reading, while she was listening to the radio in the front room. She said the door was closed, police reported, because she did not want their small child to see him reading while he ate his dinner. She was taken into custody pending the completion of the investigation. An autopsy will be performed this morning.

DOUGLAS GETS BUDGET POST; JUDGE BINGHAM DUE TO GO TO LONDON

LEWIS DOUGLAS AND ROBERT W. BINGHAM.

Arizonan in House Initiated Drive For Economy.

DERN'S NAMING IS CONFIRMED

Roosevelt to Confer With Farley Today on Lesser Jobs.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (A.P.). President-elect Roosevelt speeded up his reorganization program today with the announcement that Representative Lewis Douglas, of Arizona, is to be his budget director.

As he announced Douglas' selection and said he was already at work, the President-elect also formally announced the name of his Secretary of War—George H. Dern, of Utah, as definitely stated in Associated Press dispatches yesterday. It was learned in authoritative circles in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt would fill another important post with appointment of Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville publisher, as Ambassador to London.

Mr. Roosevelt intends to make one of the most sweeping and slashing reorganizations of Government attempted in recent history.

Already Busy at Work.

He disclosed that Douglas now is working at Washington with Swagar Sherley, of Kentucky, and Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina, in the preparation of reorganization data. Roper is regarded definitely as the Secretary of Commerce in the Roosevelt Cabinet.

Only very preliminary reports have been received so far, but he expects to have a program in shape for submission to the extra session of the new Congress that will make possible millions of dollars in economy.

Mr. Douglas, advised of the President-elect's announcement, said in Washington: "That the budget should be actually balanced is to my mind one of the most important objectives of the incoming administration.

Will Work Out Program.

"The task which the President-elect has asked me to assume," he added, "and which I have agreed to attempt, is to work out a program for balancing the Federal budget.

"It is, of course, the function of the President and of the Congress to approve or to disapprove in whole or in part any plan which I may be able to evolve.

"I leave the House of Representatives with deep regret."

Word of the Dern and Douglas selections was given out by Mr. Roosevelt just before he left his Hyde Park home late in the day to come here for a visit with Gov. Lehman and a dinner of the Legislative Correspondents Association.

The announcements came suddenly. Newspapermen asked him about reports that Dern had been offered and accepted as Secretary of War. Mr. Roosevelt smiled and replied: "I can confirm that."

SALT LAKE CITIZENS RIOT AT TAX AUCTION

Clubs, Fire Hose and Tear Gas Used in Clash of Mob and Deputies.

Salt Lake City, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Clubs, fists, fire hose and tear gas bombs were wielded today in a clash between deputy sheriffs and a throng of several hundred persons who stormed the city-county building in a successful effort to block tax foreclosure sales.

The demonstrators separated after being advised by M. P. Bales, their spokesman and Communist candidate for Governor of Utah at the last election, to meet again tomorrow at the State Capitol.

Meanwhile all the occupants of city and county offices had been forced by the gas fumes to leave the building. Official business was suspended.

"From now on there will be no more unemployed meetings in the building," said Sheriff S. Grant Young, whose face was cut when a chair was thrown through a window. "The crowd will be forced to stay outside.

"We tried to explain to the crowd that no drastic measures would be taken unless necessary and, in that event, arrests would be made and charges of inciting riot brought.

"None of the deputies standing guard at the office when the rush was made was armed with guns. They had only clubs and were instructed to use them only if absolutely necessary. I believe these people understand now that we mean to keep order."

H. G. Taylor, deputy sheriff, said only one of seven pieces of property offered on foreclosure sale was disposed of before the sale was halted. It was a local residence property.

BANK SHORT SELLING CHARGED AT HEARING

National City Officials Admit Efforts to Control Market on Stock.

(Associated Press.)

Testimony that the National City Company undertook to control the market in stock of its parent, the National City Bank and at times was selling short in that stock was presented yesterday to the Senate Banking Committee.

Although company officials maintained through a long day of rigid cross-examination that the short selling was only "technical," the evidence drew from Chairman Norbeck the charge that in effect the bank was selling its own stock short.

Hugh B. Baker, bald, soft-spoken president of the bank's security affiliate, sparred with the committee all day long over the question of whether the company actually was selling short in the bank's stock, but testified readily to efforts to control the market.

"Did the company ever seek to control the market in the bank stock?" Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, asked late in the day.

"No," Baker replied, "except when the market seemed to be moving too fast in one way or the other, and then we would undertake to do it."

Pecora did not pursue the question further at the time.

Later, however, he introduced evidence that the company gave an option which was exercised on 32,000 shares of the stock to Dominick & Dominick, New York brokers, at prices well below the market and contended it was a trading account. Baker

Billion to Bureaus Passed by Senate

Share of Veterans' Office Is $900,000,000; Sent to House.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday passed and returned to the House the $1,000,000,000 appropriation bill for the independent bureaus of the Government. The measure carried $1,003,726,000, including more than $900,000,000 for the Veterans Administration.

The Senate boosted the fund for the Federal Trade Commission from $510,000, as approved by the House, to $1,801,500, so the commission could continue its power utilities and chain store investigations.

An appropriation of $146,298 for the Bureau of Efficiency was eliminated at the request of Senator King (Democrat), Utah. This, and the raising of the Trade Commission fund, were the only changes in the bill made on the floor. The bill goes back to the House for action on Senate amendments.

Extradition of Doctor On Bills Count Urged

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—The removal of Dr. V. Gregory Burtan, cardiac specialist and lecturer in Polyclinic Hospital, to Chicago, to answer a Federal indictment charging him with possessing and passing counterfeit $100 bills was recommended today by U. S. Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill.

Dr. Burtan was indicted, as was Enrique Dechow von Buelow, German aviator, after $90,000 in counterfeit $100 bills came to light in Chicago, St. Louis and elsewhere. Von Buelow waived examination here and returned to Chicago for pleading. Dr. Burtan opposed removal.

Condition of Montague Is Slightly Improved

(Associated Press.)

The condition of Representative Montague, of Richmond, ill at a hospital here, was said at his office yesterday to be slightly improved.

Physicians informed the representative's office that he was rallying from a severe attack of influenza and that an examination would be made today to determine whether an operation is to be performed for a prostatic trouble.

WALL STREET'S GRIP ON NATION DEPICTED

Norris Shows Senate Chart of "Spider Web" of Wide Scope of Influence.

(Associated Press.)

With long pointer in hand and a huge chart labeled the "Spider Web of Wall Street" as his subject, gray-haired Senator Norris assumed his old role of schoolmaster in the Senate yesterday and lectured his colleagues on interlocking directorates.

As the veteran chairman of the Judiciary Committee stoutly assailed eight large New York banks for what he termed their vice-like grip on trade and industry through a web of directorships, Senator Logan (Democrat), Kentucky, a newcomer to the Senate, proposed that the Government take over the profits of industry above a fair return to capital and labor.

Disclaiming any "suggestion of radicalism," the former Kentucky judge said his plan would "destroy all incentive to take from the public more than a fair reutrn." The recaptured profits would be used for "the best interests of the public."

Slaves of Money Trust.

"We are just slaves at the mercy of this money trust," said Norris as he pointed to the eight spreading legs of the great spider on the wall and said they represented J. P. Morgan & Co., Guaranty Trust Co., Bankers Trust Co., First National, Irving Trust Co., Central Hanover, National City and Chase National Banks.

He said the map, 8 feet square, did not "come anywhere near" being large enough to show all the corporations under the influence of the financial center.

"There isn't wall space in this chamber that would hold the map," he said. "Instead of 120 major corporations, shown here, there would be thousands."

One Man—J. P. Morgan.

"Today," he added, "if the Government wanted to take over the railroads, we would only have to go to one man—just one man—J. P. Morgan. That's true of many other corporations. They (the eight banks) can control the lowering and raising of wages, change the conditions of labor, and raise or lower the output simply because they control the money of the United States.

"Railroad officials are only their servants. Officials of other corporations—whether they like it or not—are compelled to obey the commands that come from Wall street."

Trailing off into the stock market inquiry by the banking committee, Norris recalled testimony by Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank.

"The head of that bank gets $50,000 a year salary," Senator Norris said. "Besides, he gets $150,000 in bonuses every year. And they sold stock from $200 to $500 a share to the public which is now worth less than $40. They sold some to the employes of the bank, who are paying for it on the installment plan. Some of them could go out and buy it now for less than they owe on it, but they dare not do so because they want to keep their jobs."

Charges 2,242 Directorships.

Recalling testimony regrading the Halsey-Stuart Investment Co., of Chicago, large dealer in Insull securities, Senator Norris said this company "borrowed a professor out of one of the universities to talk over the radio on how to invest money."

"The Old Counselor, they call him," he said. "They paid him $50 a week and Halsey-Stuart prepared his addresses. It's a good deal like the methods used by the public utilities.

"Suppose a widow with a $10,000 insurance policy was knocked down and her money seized in the street," he added. "The man would be torn limb from limb."

He said the advice to buy Insull securities reached many persons in similar circumstances, yet they "are called financiers and are not punished."

Senator Norris said seven "Morgan banks" had 2,242 directorships in various corporations.

by the police until the next morning.

She then declared that she and her husband had been on a holiday tour of the Orient, stopping in Java, and that they had lived happily together. His business and banking interests were flourishing, she said, and could give no reason for suicide.

Fell was buried Wednesday.

Philadelphia, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Relatives of John R. Fell, millionaire Philadelphia and New York sportsman, found stabbed to death in Java, in the absence of more details today expressed doubt that he had killed himself.

Anthony J. Drexel, who sent word here yesterday that he had received an unsigned radiogram stating that Fell had died in a hotel, today sent word from Colombo, Ceylon, that he had requested the American consul at Batavia to look after the interests of the family. It is understood here that Drexel had been on his way to join Fell and his wife in their tour.

Fell's first wife was Dorothy Randolph. She is now the wife of Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury. They had two sons and a daughter. His second wife was Mildred Santry. They were divorced in 1931. His present wife was his third.

Carrier's Memory Aids Bomb Inquiry

New York Postman Recalls Mailing of Shell to Roosevelt.

As Federal authorities continue their investigation into the sending of a "bomb," found in the city postoffice here early Tuesday and addressed to President-elect Roosevelt, a substitute mail carrier in Watertown, N. Y., yesterday recalled taking the package from atop a mail box last Sunday. Lagan J. Hannay, the carrier, said it was too large to fit inside the mailbox. It was placed there between 10 and 11 p. m.

Meanwhile, the package, containing a shotgun shell wired to explode if properly hit, has been turned over to C. H. Clarahan, chief postal inspector for New York. W. J. Satterfield, Washington chief inspector, said the investigation was out of the hands of the local Postoffice officials.

Agents of the Secret Service and Department of Justice are centering their inquiry in Watertown.

Picture of Queen Contest Winner May Be Yet Untaken

Question Will Not Be Settled Until Last Photo Is Received April 15 in $10,500 Washington Post Competition of Charm.

Whether the queen of the Century of Progress International Exposition is represented among the hundreds of photographs already submitted in The Washington Post's $10,500 contest for the selection of 51 charming girls, or whether her picture has yet to be entered, is a question that can not be answered until after the close of the contest on April 15 when the official judges will undertake the task of selecting the group of girls who will be internationally recognized as the world's most charming.

Although The Washington Post publishes the pictures of ten entrants in each Sunday's rotogravure picture section, selection for such reproduction does not affect judgment in any way. Photographs so used are chosen solely because of their suitability for rotogravure printing. Every photograph submitted to the Queen Contest Editor, The Washington Post, will be conscientiously and impartially judged by an unbiased and capable jury of nationally known men and women.

Regardless of where they may live, the 51 girls whose pictures reflect the greatest feminine charm will be invited to come to Chicago as the guests of The Washington Post and the Chicago Tribune. Their transportation will be paid to the exposition and return; they will reside for a period of two weeks at Chicago's most luxurious hotels; they will enjoy an elaborate program of entertainment, under proper chaperonage, and will be beautifully gowned by leading modistes. In addition, three of the group will be selected as queen and first and second ladies-in-waiting and will be given cash awards of $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively, in the order of their selection.

Every unmarried girl—including widows—is eligible to compete for these great honors and financial rewards. It is merely necessary to submit a picture that is at least 5 by 8 inches in size and that has been taken within the last 12 months. The photograph may be entered by the girl in person or by any relative or friend. Only employes of The Washington Post, and members of their families, and professionals such as stage girls and artists' models are barred from the contest.

Elsewhere on this page today will be found a transmittal coupon which should be properly filled out and pasted to the back of the photograph or the same information may be written upon any sheet of paper and similarly attached.

ROOSEVELT NAMES DOUGLAS TO BE DIRECTOR OF BUDGET

bled down the news, he added: "That surprised you, didn't it?"

Then he stated: "I am very glad to say that Representative Lewis Douglas, of Arizona, has consented to be budget director."

He emphasized that he considered the budget office one of the most important in the Government and almost on a rank with the Cabinet.

In Dern, a former Governor of Utah, the President-elect has a strong-jawed officer well schooled in politics and discipline.

Dern is the third man officially named by Roosevelt for his "new deal" Cabinet. Senator Hull, of Tennessee, is to be Secretary of State and William H. Woodin, of Pennsylvania and New York, Secretary of the Treasury.

Denies Further Announcements.

The remainder of the Roosevelt Cabinet was learned definitely yesterday, but the President-elect declined flatly today to make any further announcements. The other portfolios were assigned as follows: Attorney General, Senator Walsh, of Montana; Navy, Senator Swanson, of Virginia; Postmaster General, James A. Farley, of New York; Interior, Harold Ickes, of Illinois; Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace, of Iowa; Labor, Frances Perkins, of New York.

Mr. Roosevelt will return to Hyde Park with Farley, the Democratic national chairman, tomorrow to go over selection of many other subordinate officers of the new administration.

Judge Bingham, who will head the diplomatic corps and be in an especially important position because of the war debt negotiations and the economic conference, conferred with the President-elect in New York recently and was in Washington today, where it was understood he talked with Senator Hull.

Although Douglas is only 39 years old, he will have completed six years in the House of Representatives when he becomes budget director March 4. He initiated the economy drive in the House and was author of the resolution creating a special economy committee.

Mr. Roosevelt regards him one of the best-posted men on economy and government, as well as a courageous fighter.

As director of the budget, he will be the President's personal handler of the Nation's purse strings, keeping a watchful eye on expenditures of each of the Government departments.

The director confers with the President every week during the year, laying before him statements on the condition of Federal finances and estimates of future expenditures and receipts.

The particular problem facing Douglas is the Federal deficit, which on January 31 was $1,271,721,081.

Sees Mark Graves.

One of his duties will be to supervise the preparation for Mr. Roosevelt of his annual budget message to Congress. This is delivered each December and contains an estimate of every dollar to be spent during the ensuing year.

At Hyde Park during the day, Mr. Roosevelt saw only Mark Graves, New York State budget director. He spent most of the day opening packages and unpacking. It was the first visit at Hyde Park by Mr. Roosevelt in more than a month.

Returning there tomorrow, he probably will remain until just before inauguration. He has done little work so far on his inauguration speech, but he confirmed the fact today that it would be brief and probably not ready until the morning of March 4.

The President-elect traveled here by motor from Hyde Park, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt. They were guests of Gov. and Mrs. Lehman late in the day for tea at the executive mansion.

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, yesterday won the right to appeal to circuit court from her conviction for violation of a Montgomery County building ordinance in the construction of an addition to a filling station at Montrose, Md.

When she was convicted several weeks ago, the prohibition leader went to jail for 25 minutes while her attorneys instituted habeas corpus proceedings.

Yesterday the habeas corpus proceedings were withdrawn when Police Judge Donald A. De Lashmutt increased her fine from $10 to $11, thereby enabling her to file an appeal.

FIRM U. S. CONTROL OF BANKING URGED

Chemical Foundation Head Tells Senators of "Cancer" in Credit Structure.

(Associated Press.)

Firm governmental control of banking to remove "a cancer that has grown" upon the credit structure was urged on the Senate Finance Committee yesterday by Francis P. Garvan, of New York, as an essential step in the restoring of prosperity.

Garvan, president of the Chemical Foundation, former alien property custodian and once an Assistant Attorney General, recommended reformation of the committee which is studying depression cures to include Justice Brandeis and the Attorney General to go fully into the financial factors.

The committee, he said, then could bring up to date the findings of the old Pujo committee of prewar days. This group, he said, inquired into the activities of the "money trust," which, Garvan contended, had grown stronger and more powerful through the years until the time has come to apply the knife to "a cancer in our affairs."

Reciprocal Agreements.

Although Garvan occupied most of the committee's day, members heard in executive session Col. Soethenes Behn, president of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co., advocate branch banking, reciprocal trade and tariff agreements and a balanced budget.

Edward J. Grimes, a cash grain dealer of Minneapolis, suggested sharp cuts in governmental costs, taxes and railroad rates, urged getting the Government out of business and sought tariff revision.

Garvan expressed opposition to war debts cancellation, contending this would be only a step toward cancellation of private foreign and domestic debts. He asserted that foreign loans were a handicap to exports instead of a help.

Voluminous statistics on international exchange were put into the committee's record by Garvan to show debtors could pay, and said cancellation would lead to general repudiation of foreign and domestic debts because it would destroy "the morality" at stake.

"If the Englishman and the Frenchman does not have to pay his debts, how can you expect a poor farmer to pay his?" he asked. "What are you going to say to Chile, for instance, in the terribly disastrous condition that they are in?"

On the banking question, Garvan said the Government "should control the banking system," adding in answer to Senator Gore (Democrat), Oklahoma, "whether by a national bank or by 100 per cent supervision and protection, I do not say."

Credit System Curbed.

"I am convinced that one of the great causes of the panic in its inception, and the main cause of the long continuance and depth of our depression, is the fact that our credit system, the life-blood of the country, is in the hands of a few private individuals without restraint or regulation by the Government," Garvan said, adding:

"I believe it is now our duty to free our banking from private control, that it is a Government function.

"The gold dollar and our credit system—you can use them interchangeably—are our first and most important public utilities."

Donald R. Richberg, of Chicago, labor leader, advised the committee "the principal cause of the present depression is the greedy and ignorant misuse of money power."

In a voluminous brief sent by him for the committee's study, he suggested a national economic planning council, limitation of profits and legislation to provide as many jobs as possible in industry.

Ben Lindsey Ineligible As Governor of Hawaii

Honolulu, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A news dispatch from Hyde Park, N. Y., stating Ben Lindsey, of Los Angeles, former juvenile judge in Denver, was being discussed for Governor of Hawaii in circles close to President-elect Roosevelt brought comment here today that Lindsey's appointment would require a congressional amendment to the territorial organic act.

Attorney General Harry Hewitt said the act required residence in Hawaii three years immediately preceding appointment to the governorship.

SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE ACTS ON D. C. RELIEF EMERGENCY

public school buildings to classroom features. The stand was taken during discussion of funds for the new Woodrow Wilson High School, originally estimated at $1,300,000, but cut down to $1,000,000 by the House.

"This Government can not hope to maintain the standard of school building it set in 1930," commented Senator Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina. Senator Bingham supported Byrnes' position that money should be spent for teachers rather than larger gymnasiums and auditoriums.

At the morning session, Senator Bingham suggested establishment of a new method of condemning land for public purposes. He complained of the present method of selecting condemnation juries. Senator Kendrick (Democrat), Wyoming, protested that condemnation awards in the District are far too high.

During the testimony of Director William M. Mann, of the National Zoological Park, Senator Bingham suggested the advisability of charging admissions to the zoo on specified days, as one means of meeting the cost of the park. Dr. Mann pointed out that the zoo now furnishes recreation for children and others who would be unable to go there if a fee were charged.

"It's just a suggestion," said Senator Bingham. "I don't suppose we ever will be able to do it."

Sympathetic With Project.

Maj. Donovan strongly urged the committee to put back in the bill $45,000 to provide a working capital for maintaining District workhouse industries at Lorton, Va. Senator Copeland and other members indicated they are sympathetic with the project. Among those testifying against restoration was Representative Smith (Democrat), Virginia, on whose point of order the appropriation was stricken in the House.

Use of District gasoline tax money to pave a strip of park roadway under the proposed new P street bridge, was urged by Senator Copeland, while Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, was on the stand. Col. Grant pointed out that local gasoline funds can not be touched for park roads until the Senate District Committee's bill increasing the local gasoline tax 1 cent, is passed by both Houses.

An appeal for continued operation of the two District incinerators, for which the House provided no funds, was made by Evan H. Tucker, president of the Northeast Citizens Association. Senator Bingham said he shared Mr. Tucker's opinion.

$7,700 for New Playground.

Senator Bingham also expressed sympathy with a proposal to provide $7,700 in the bill for a new playground between Ninth and Tenth, F and G streets northeast, following testimony in favor of the project by Hilleary Winn and Miss Sibyl Baker, superintendent of playgrounds.

During the discussion of the District's present relief plight, Maj. Donovan told the committee that even if the Wagner relief bill is passed, the District would be unable to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation without a special congressional authorization, except for transient aid.

Senator Copeland pointed out that a bill reported favorably by the Senate District Committee, authorizing District borrowings from the corporation up to $2,500,000, will take care of that feature if it is passed in the special session.

"But we don't want to depend too much on action that might be taken at the special session," interjected Senator Bingham.

Senator Bingham, Senator Copeland and other members agreed that the Budget Bureau should be called on to furnish additional District relief estimates, after Public Welfare Director Wilson had painted an impressive picture of the growing demands on local aid agencies. Senator Bingham said he thought the Senate could include the appropriation in the second deficiency bill.

Man Who Got Checks Of Another Is Acquitted

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 23.—It was quite a surprise when Charles E. Itnyre opened a letter and found two checks for $44.77 from the receiver of the Mechanics Loan and Savings Bank, closed 17 months ago. He did not know he was a depositor, but he cashed the checks and paid three bills.

Then the receiver discovered that the checks were intended for another Charles E. Itnyre here, but mailed to the wrong address, and sought to collect. When Itnyre was unable to make good, a larceny charge was preferred and Itnyre arrested.

Today Judge Frank G. Wagaman, before whom Itnyre was tried, freed him, ruling that it was the receiver's mistake and that the money was received in good faith by Itnyre.

FARM BOARD'S HEAD SENDS RESIGNATION

Stone Acts as Opposition to Important Legislation Appears on Hill.

(Associated Press.)

While bristling opposition last night threatened oblivion for an important piece of farm legislation which had had a chance of enactment at this session, Chairman Stone of the Farm Board resigned his office with a declaration that if the organization is allowed to continue "great good will be accomplished for the American farmer."

The endangered legislation was the Senate plan to help cotton farmers, a Government pool proposal to encourage acreage reduction. Despite boosts from two Democratically controlled House committees, Agriculture and Rules, so powerful were the forces against it, Representative Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, told the House:

"There is a possibility that the rule for the Smith bill will not be pressed."

Defends Board's Work.

Stone submitted to President Hoover a resignation to be effective March 4. His letter to the Chief Executive declared that the board had done its "big job" and done it well. This, he said, was "to preserve well-grounded and efficiently managed cooperative associations and to encourage others to be organized where needed and desired by farm groups."

Evidence of success, he said, was that though "not many business men had any confidence in cooperative marketing associations" in the past 3½ years only 80 out of 12,000 had failed, none large.

Holds Panics Prevented.

Furthermore, he said, even in the expensive stabilization operations "we did by buying wheat on two separate occasions prevent what seemed to be inevitable panics in all lines of business."

His resignation was believed likely by many in Washington to bring to a crux immediately for the new administration the question of what is to be done about the Farm Board. In the campaign and since there has been a strong movement for its abolition.

President Hoover let it be known he was accepting the resignation, but made no other comment.

Indicted English Actor Admits Writing Threat

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Frederick Manthrop, 26-year-old English actor, who admitted he wrote a letter to Mrs. John Sloane, society woman, demanding $2,000 under threat of death, was indicted today by the Federal grand jury for violation of the so-called "Lindbergh act."

The act, passed by Congress shortly after the Lindbergh kindnaping last year, provides a maximum penalty of 20 years imprisonment for using the mails in attempted extortion by means of threats. Manthrop was arraigned in Harlem Police Court this morning and held in $10,000 bail for a hearing next Monday.

WAR, NAVY AND AIR UNITY AGAIN URGED

House Passes Bill Carrying $315,419,000 Budget for Adams' Department.

(Associated Press.)

The old cry for a welding of all the Nation's armed forces into a single department of national defense was raised in the House yesterday as it approved a bill allowing the expenditure of $315,419,000 on the Navy next fiscal year.

Just about a year ago the House killed a proposal sponsored by Democratic leaders, for the creation of a new department of national defense to handle the activities of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. The argument was that such a consolidation would save money.

The same argument was advanced yesterday by Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, who said that the "only way to eliminate overlapping, duplication and waste in the two big services is to establish a department of national defense."

A World War flier himself, LaGuardia especially urged unification of the air forces and said that all aviators in the Army and Navy favored that idea, "but they are afraid to say so."

248 New Airplanes.

The Navy bill as sent to the Senate—the last regular appropriation measure needing House action this session—allowed $22,220,000 for the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, and 246 new airplanes will be purchased with part of that money.

Few amendments were added to the measure before it passed. One, sponsored by Chairman Vinson, of the Navy Committee, would increase the limit of cost on the aircraft carrier Ranger now under construction from $19,000,000 to $21,000,000.

Another would keep Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, from being returned to active duty after he retires and receiving the same pay he now gets. Doing that, Vinson said, would have been a "bad precedent."

"Nation Needs Pratt."

Representative Ayres (Democrat), Kansas, in charge of the appropriation bill, had held that as chief of naval operations Pratt "won for himself marked distinction" and "because of our present financial plight * * * the country and the Navy will continue to need the counsel of Admiral Pratt."

If the country and the Navy get Pratt's advice, he will, under the House bill, serve at the same pay as all other retired admirals.

Vinson also succeeded in striking from the bill a provision that would have kept any naval officer from drawing more than $1,420 extra pay for flying. He did not, however, attempt to increase the $53,345,000 allowed to build new ships. That amount next year would be appropriated by the bill for work on three submarines, nine cruisers, the aircraft carrier Ranger and twelve destroyers.

The measure also would permit expenditures of $5,500,000 for continued modernization work on the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho.

McAdoo Favors U.S Bank Fund Control

Senator-Elect for Federal Guarantee of Every Dollar Deposited.

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A plan to put the National Government behind every dollar deposited in banks as a guarantee against losses is advanced by William Gibbs McAdoo, United States senator-elect from California.

Speaking before an eminent group of Pacific Coast industrialists here last night the former Secretary of the Treasury proposed to create a new Federal banking system, which would eliminate the 49 banking systems now in vogue.

"I favor, if necessary," he said, "a constitutional amendment that would put the sole power over banks in the United States into the hands of the Federal Government."

HOOVER LAYS STONE OF JUSTICE BUILDING

Says One of Noblest Pursuits Is Preservation of Law Made by People.

As he placed the corner stone of the new Department of Justice Building at Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest yesterday afternoon, President Hoover declared that the structure would "house men and women dedicated to one of the noblest pursuits of the human mind and spirit, the preservation of the majesty of the people's law."

It was the second corner stone the Chief Executive had laid within a week, the other being at the Archives Building.

The President said in full:

"A chief glory of our Nation is our system of laws, made by our own freely chosen representatives and administered by judges who owe their authority to us. With us, justice rests upon the conscience and reason of the people. It can rise no higher than its source in them.

One of Noblest Pursuits.

"That it is, in the main, efficient in doing justice, preserving the social order, expediting the normal processes of our daily life and restraining evildoers, is truly a glorious achievement of a democracy.

"The building that will rise upon this ground will house men and women dedicated to one of the noblest pursuits of the human mind and spirit, the preservation of the majesty of the people's law, the preservation of the peoples' rights, against evildoers and oppressors, the amelioration of those passions which inevitably arise between rival interests and claims.

"The primary reason for established government is the preservation of public peace. Law is the foundation stone of organized society. Its enforcement is the primary task of a civilization. Democracy can hope to endure only to the degree that it can find the means of enforcement of its own laws, even against the most powerfully entrenched of its own citizens.

"Justice Shall Prevail."

"Justice in a democracy knows neither station, position, wealth nor poverty; and justice can act only with the most efficient, honest organization of the enforcement machinery. For this, public officers and equipment are indispensable, but equally indispensable to their success are the self-discipline and cooperation of the people.

"In the design of this building we should substitute for the ancient maxim, 'Let justice prevail, though the heavens fall,' the more modern conception of democracy, 'Justice shall prevail, because that is the people's will.'

"I now lay the corner stone of the Department of Justice Building and dedicate it in the name of the people of the United States."

JAPAN'S DELEGATES PREPARE TO LEAVE

Matsuoka Pens Address He Will Give at Geneva if Withdrawal Comes.

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Japan's delegation to the League of Nations has made its preparations to leave Geneva if the league assembly, meeting tomorrow, adopts the report condemning Tokyo's Manchurian policy.

Today Yosuke Matsuoka, head of the delegation, prepared the address he will deliver when the report comes up for adoption. If, and when it is adopted, it was said, he will announce the withdrawal of the delegation from Geneva, leaving a skeleton organization until the constitutional question which secession from the league would involve shall have been dealt with.

Secession would not be a simple matter, from the legal standpoint. The third paragraph of article 1 of the league covenant stipulates:

"Any member of the league may, after two years' notice of its intention to do so, withdraw from the league, provided that all its international obligations and all its obligations under this covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal."

Constitutionally, therefore, Japan's withdrawal could not be legally effected until two years after notice of intention to withdraw is given, and even then only if the country had a clean record under the covenant.

No responsible statesman is talking openly of the possibility of expelling Japan from the league, but this action is discussed privately in Geneva. The covenant makes definite provision for such a decision in article 16:

"Any member of the league which has violated any covenant of the league may be declared to be no longer a member of the league by a vote of the council concurred in by the representatives of all the other members of the league represented thereon."

Japanese Confesses Soviet Air Base Plot

Moscow, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A dispatch from Khabarovsk today said a Japanese resident named Kaisawa had confessed that he had been commissioned by other Japanese to destroy the Russian aviation base at Ust and other structures of importance to this country.

The Ust base, where a fleet of planes is under construction, was damaged by fire on January 19. Police suspected arson and arrested two members of the militia guard. They implicated a man named Selivanov, a former clergyman, employed as a warehouse watchman at Ust.

DETROIT BANKS PLAN COMPLETE REVISION

Reforms Would Be Based on $135,000,000 R. F. C. Loan.

Detroit, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—A sweeping reorganization of Detroit's financial set-up developed tonight as a proposed short cut to solution of financial difficulties that ten days ago placed 530 Michigan banks on holiday schedule and tied up approximately a billion and a half dollars.

The banking holiday theoretically ended today, but throughout Detroit and lower Michigan, where the moratorium was effective, most of the banks opened their doors under stringent restrictions proclaimed by Gov. William A. Comstock. In the main, withdrawals were limited to 5 per cent or less, and business otherwise was on an emergency basis.

Under the terms of a proposal heard in the financial district, but lacking official verification, Detroit's two largest banks, the First National-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, would undergo reorganization, contingent upon a loan of $135,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Debuchi Describes Japan's Intention

Tells Stimson Army Will Not Go Beyond Wall Unless Provoked.

(Associated Press.)

Ambassador Debuchi, on instructions from Tokyo, told Secretary Stimson yesterday that Japan has no thought of moving south of the Great Wall in China unless there is provocation by the Chinese.

The ambassador told newspapermen the Japanese movement in conjunction with the Manchukuo forces is to establish peace in Jehol province, so Manchukuo can function without annoyance.

Japan has repeatedly stated, he said, that it has no thought of moving south of the Jehol boundary.

However, if attacks be made by the Chinese upon Japanese civilians in north China, the Japanese government feels it must send troops to protect the life and property of its subjects.

He said the Japanese population in Peiping, including the military, is less than 1,000, and the Japanese population of Tientsin, including the military, is between 3,000 and 4,000.

ROAD BILL IS PASSED BY MARYLAND HOUSE

Whipping Post Measure Also Adopted; Truck Proposal Is Introduced.

By a Staff Correspondent.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 23.—The administration road bill and the measure abolishing the whipping post in the State passed the House today and were sent to the Senate. Administration leaders said that not more than four votes would be cast against the road law in the Upper House.

A bill forbidding cemeteries in an area roughly bounded by the Potomac River, Hensons Branch and the Marlboro pike was introduced in the House by the Prince Georges County delegation. The House also passed the bill setting up a special taxing area for the Glen Echo Fire Department, while the Senate voted final approval of Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer's bill to postpone signing the levy in Prince Georges County.

The road bill was passed quietly by about the same majority which adopted a favorable report on it yesterday. It gives the State roads commission power actually to spend the gasoline tax money which is being diverted to county roads for the next two years. There was some debate on the whipping post bill, which was finally passed, 78 to 29. Delegate George L. Edmunds (Democrat, Montgomery) and Delegate Walter W. Dawson (Republican, Montgomery), voted against it.

Favorable Report Given.

There also was some parliamentary sparring on a bill allowing certain State officials to perform marriages, although a favorable report on it was adopted. With the object of killing the measure, an amendment allowing members of the "Legislature" to perform marriages was offered. The amendment was declared out of order as the Legislature in Maryland is called the General Assembly.

Delegate Oliver Metzerott (Republican, Prince Georges), offered a House bill reducing all board of election supervisors from three to two members, one from each of the major political parties. Members would be nominated by the parties and appointed by the governor, who should state in writing his reason for not appointing any nominee.

Another bill to settle the present Maryland-New Jersey truck war was received in the House. It removes a legal objection to out-of-State trucks using Maryland highways on out-of-State tags. A bill stipulating that auto license tags should be issued for the fiscal instead of the calendar year also was introduced today, while another proposed measure would tax public garages from $5 to $200, depending on their size.

Bill Being Prepared.

In the Senate a bill was being prepared to suspend for two years all laws fixing public salaries. The measure would allow the bodies making appropriations to fix the salaries for the two-year period.

Tomorrow, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will present his schedule of suggested budget cuts to a joint session of the House ways and means and the Senate finance committees. The proposed cuts are reported to total more than $1,000,000, and it is understood that about half this amount would be taken from the appropriation for the public school system.

It was learned today that Gov. Ritchie had asked school officials about the effect of cutting down supervisors, special training and free bus transportation for high school students, and this information was furnished him yesterday. He asked specifically about reducing the number of supervisors to one per county, eliminating manual training and music and charging half the cost of bus lines to patrons of the schools.

A joint meeting of the Kiwanis Club of the sixth division of the Capital district was held last night at Elkton, Md., under the direction of C. Walter Cole, member of the Towson, Md., club and Lieutenant governor of the sixth division.

Other clubs represented were Baltimore, Havre de Grace, Westminster, of Maryland, and Seaford and Rehoboth Beach clubs, of Delware. Speakers were Edwin F. Hill, district governor; George H. Winslow, secretary emeritus of the Washington club; Franklin H. Kean, international field representative of Washington; William R. Schmucker, song leader of the Washington club, and Nathan Weill, of Washington.

BANK SHORT SELLING CHARGED AT HEARING

denied this, saying he had an understanding the stock was to be handled for investment accounts.

The square-jawed committee counsel, more persistent and determined in his questions than at any previous time during the inquiry, asserted that in April, 1929, the company was short 25,000 shares in the bank stock at the same time it was engaged in what he called "an intensive campaign" to sell the stock to the public as an investment.

Baker agreed that during April and May the company borrowed 30,000 shares of the stock from Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the bank's board and also the company's, to cover sales to the public. He contended, however, that the company had other stock of one kind or another to cover its sales.

The evidence presented by Pecora showed that the stock was returned to Mitchell July 10 with $128,000 in interest and $30,000 in dividends declared while the stock was held by the company.

In the verbal dueling over the question of short selling, it developed that on February 15 the company acquired from the bank "rights" to 51,590 shares which expired that day, but which the company held for distant shareholders to execute.

Baker testified that by May 3 the shareholders had executed the rights for all but about 400 of these shares, and the company executed the remainder.

The rights permitted purchase of the stock, then selling at more than $300, for $100.

The big committee room was again jammed with spectators yesterday and many had to stand around the doors because of the shortage of seats. Among those waiting to testify was Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, who has been under subpena since last year.

Chairman Norbeck would not explain why he had been recalled, but it was indicated he might be asked to testify today.

Man Who Quarantined T. R. Finally Apologizes

Seattle, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—It took him 35 years to do it, but Dr. Ira C. Brown, Seattle schools health officer, finally has apologized to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

At a reception for the widow of the former President here, Dr. Brown stepped up and said: "I wonder if you remember me, Mrs. Roosevelt? I've been waiting for 35 years to beg your pardon."

"Your face is familiar," she said. "What is your name?"

"Well, I was Maj. Brown of the Sixth Cavalry • • •"

"Why!" she broke in, feigning anger, "you're the man who quarantined my husband! And was I mad!"

She led Dr. Brown to a seat and they recalled how in August, 1898, Maj. Brown, camp quarantine officer at Montauk Point, N. Y., twice on successive days caught Col. Roosevelt trying to sneak out of quarantine to visit his wife, who was living nearby.

PAUL BERN SUICIDE, NEW INQUIRY SHOWS

Writing Expert Tells Prosecutor Film Executive Penned Death Note.

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Paul Bern, suicide!

For the second time that verdict was inscribed in county records today in explanation of the tragedy that last September shocked Hollywood in cutting short the honeymoon days of a popular platinum blonde, of the movies, Jean Harlow.

District Attorney Buron R. Fitts disclosed that an exhaustive investigation has been carried on quietly into the strange end of the film executive.

Most of the investigation centered upon a two-sentence note inscribed in a little diary, which read:

"This is my only way to make amends for my abject humiliation. You understand that last night was only a comedy."

A handwriting expert, says the district attorney, has stated these lines were penned by the hand of Paul Bern.

Harvey Parnell as United States Internal Revenue Collector for Arkansas. The vote to expunge the resolution was 64 to 20.

GLUCOSE INJECTED TO NOURISH CERMAK

General Improvement Noted After Treatment; Chance of Living Goes Up.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Intravenous injections of 10 per cent glucose, a food substance, were given Mayor Anton J. Cermak today in an effort to build up his strength, sapped by an assassin's bullet and an attack of colitis.

Three and one-half pints of the glucose were placed in the mayor's body today in two treatments for nourishment, Dr. Karl Meyer, chief of the mayor's medical staff, announced.

The afternoon injection was one quart, and required two hours. Dr. Meyer said the patient responded splendidly, and a general improvement was noticed. A temperature rise to 100.6 degrees was attributed to the strain of the injection.

Narrow Death Escape.

Dr. Meyer revealed for the first time that Cermak collapsed last night during an injection of glucose through the skin. The patient suffered a vasco-motor shock, the doctor said, which forced his blood pressure so low that the pulse collapsed.

A minute, during which stimulates were administered, was required to restore the pulse.

Today's injections were made into the vein of the arm.

Dr. Meyer said today's improvement caused him to believe Cermak now has an 80-20 chance to recover. He added that last night the patient's condition was such that for a time he had "only one chance in five to live."

Temperature Stabilized.

The treatment was resorted to in order to avoid irritation of the intestines, already inflamed by the colitis, Dr. Meyer said. Improvement in the kidneys added to the doctor's optimism.

Drs. Frank Jirka and J. W. Snyder were to remain on duty at the hospital tonight, as last night.

Before today's injection, Dr. Meyer said, Cermak's temperature was "virtually stationary" at 99 degrees. His pulse and respiration are normal. He was refreshed by sound, natural sleep during the day.

Previously sedatives were administered to aid the sleep.

REQUESTS for the free tickets to the Federal Diary Spelling Bee Tuesday at 8 p. m., National Press Club, are coming in in good volume. Have you sent for yours yet? Inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope and the tickets are yours.

Veterans' Administration, I. C. C. and Agriculture supplied four new entrants yesterday. Mary Leland, Veterans' Administration; C. W. Dwiggins, watch officer, Agriculture; J. Frank Cone, Dairy Industry, and Margot Wilcox, I. C. C., have just entered. Welcome! Brush up on the easy words, we'd say. They are the ones most spelling matches are won or lost on.

Arrangements committee is casting about for a judge for the contest. That official will be announced soon.

* * * *

The other evening we saw W. A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, at In-Com-Co's annual ball. His friends with I. C. C. are legion. You recall he used to be with that organization before achieving present fame. "W. A." knew us when——. He knew us when we were about to inaugurate the Federal Diary. Fact is, he was one of our first customers.

THE arrangements committee yesterday received the handsome cup, the gift of R. Harris, F street, who donated the first prize. And that cup is something well worth possessing. It's ornamental and before long it may be even more useful. But that's another story.

There are other prizes, too. We can't tell you too much about the handsome prizes. They're part of the surprise.

Enrollment in the spelling bee will close soon, so make your decision and send in the little coupon filled with your name and department connection. No entries postmarked after midnight Sunday will be eligible.

The large auditorium of the National Press Club will be available for the contest. If you're not in the contest you'll want to witness it.

We hear the contestants are polishing off all the rough corners on their spelling. Tuesday evening will tell how well they've done their stuff. There are an even 40 entered. Who'll make it 50?

IF you should ask who is one of the busiest individuals in Government service and should call for a spur-of-the-moment answer, we'd say Talmage H. Morris, the "Shadow" of Commerce, is about as busy as the proverbial one-armed paperhanger.

T. H. MORRIS

"The Shadow" is a man hard to locate. He has no fixed route to follow through the mammoth building, but when he's not in the office of the Secretary or of Chief Clerk Libby it's a safe bet he's attending to some detail of helping the human and metal machinery of Commerce to function smoothly.

"Shadow" Morris has a unique job. He is liaison between more bureaus than any other man in Washington, perhaps. The "Shadow" anticipates the needs of a lot of the personnel, so that by the time the need becomes a wish fulfillment has come to pass.

There was a meeting in Commerce some months ago. When plans first were announced, Mr. Morris started to work to accommodate a mere handful. Every day, it seemed, more names were added to the guest list, and every day facilities had to be enlarged, until at last 500 attended. But the meeting was a success largely because "the Shadow" had kept apace and even ahead of the actual evident requirements.

A short way to express it all is this: Mr. Morris is everything and everybody in Commerce that no one else or nothing else is.

Government workers are having their worries and troubles these trying times with furloughs, pay cuts and even sweetheart worries. It's sad, indeed, when a romance is spoiled by mercenary dependents.—The Shadow.

Speaking of that suggested party for Federal Diary prize winners, Philip Ebert, G. A. O., says he's for it. "I am sure it would be a most interesting event," he says.

Influenza may be just a headache to many of us, but it brings a demand and consequent better price to lemon growers, since the fruit is widely used as a treatment for the ailment, we learn from Agriculture.

MACKIN CLUB GOOD IN 'SMARTY'S PARTY'

Kelly Drama Pleases Large Audience in One-Act Play Contest.

The combination of George Kelly, a playwright, who can always be relied upon for lively drama, and a smooth-working cast from the Mac-Kin Club gave a large audience at Roosevelt High School last night the most absorbing, if not the best, piece of acting presented so far in the 1933 one-act play tournament.

The play entitled, "Smarty's Party," takes a place with the other first-raters—"Retribution," "Highness" and "The Dust of the Road" in the serious class. As only two dramas can be selected for the finals, the judges will be faced with the unpleasant task of discarding at least two creditable offerings.

The preliminary presentation will end tomorrow night, with four more plays in the Roosevelt auditorium. The finals will be held at McKinley High School Wednesday.

Dearth of Comedy.

Community Center officials, under whose auspices the tournament is held, bemoan the dearth of good comedy. Only two first-rate comedies have been shown, and one of these was a burlesque, "The Wolf at the Door."

Another melodrama burlesque was presented last night by the Shoestring Production Company—"Sadie, the Sewing Machine Girl." It was good slapstick stuff, with particularly nice work from Maxine Kahn as Sadie, but fell far short of "The Wolf at the Door."

Perhaps the dreariest and most boring play in the tournament was "The Neighbors," given last night by the Foundry Players of the Foundry M. E. Church. Zona Gale wrote this one, something hard to believe, because Miss Gale has proved in other works that she knows conflict is an essential part of good drama. There was no conflict in this interminable chatter between dull, unimaginative Main Street residents.

Mrs. Sprucebank Scores.

The religious drama committee of the Washington Federation of Churches, with "Betrayal," gave the best religious play seen in the tournament. Helen Burton, as Zerah, was splendid and dynamic, and proved herself a contender for acting honors.

The cast of "Smarty's Party," the headliner of the program, was composed of Ada Mae Brady, Grace Sprucebank, Paul Murphy and Eleanor Freund. Mrs. Sprucebank, who enacted with restraint and powerful feeling the swift disillusionment of a middle-aged woman, also directed the play. Mr. Murphy also contributed a fine piece of acting. L. C.

DR. RYAN DISCUSSES WORLD DEPRESSION

Overproduction Chief Cause and Poor Distribution Helps, Speaker Says.

The capacity for overproduction in the important industries of the world was quoted as the reason for the present world-wide depression by Dr. John A. Ryan, of Catholic University, in an address last night before the Academy of World Economics, meeting at Georgetown University.

"In the distribution and control of production," the speaker said, "human intelligence has fallen far behind the market set in increasing this same production. In other words, production capacity has been increased out of all proportion to consumption capacity."

As a remedy for the present situation, Dr. Ryan offered for consideration, these three factors: Extension of public works, higher wages and shorter hours. Along the same line he advocated the lowering of interest rates on money. "Capital is going to have to get along with a smaller share of the profits," he concluded.

Emphasis on the laborer as a consumer rather than a cost of production was urged by Leifur Magnusson, director of the local office of the International Labor Organization, who presided.

Reduction of wages was denounced by Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor, who stated that if the purchasing power is to be maintained, wages must not be reduced.

The vastness and complexity of international labor and trade problems were pictured by Dr. Lewis L. Lorin, of Brookings Institute, who styled himself an optimist who thought that "things would be better next year, but that they would still be bad for a long time to come."

MONTGOMERY BODY URGES TAXI REFORM

Federation Adopts Measures on Bonds and Favors Sunday Movies.

Basing of taxicab fares on distance traveled, adequate protection by means of insurance or bond and adequate regulation of taxicabs were approved by the Montgomery County Civic Federation at its meeting last night in the Bethesda (Md.) School. Approval of the resolutions offered by J. Harry Welch, chairman of the public utilities committee, came shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, after nearly an hour of debate.

The federation adopted five resolutions presented by the public finance and budget committee, as follows:

Three hundred thousand dollars in bonds to complete the 1931 road program; $100,000 in bonds for new and incompleted school projects; refunding of bonds maturing in 1933-34, to the amount of $301,000, to be retired in 20 years; inclusion of an item sufficient to retire the certificates of indebtedness issued against the revolving fund; issuance of short time serial bonds for certificates of indebtedness, to retire $200,000 emergency fund certificates now outstanding.

The federation, after nearly two hours spirited debate, adopted a resolution urging Sunday movies and ball games after 2 p. m. by a vote of 55 to 22.

DeVaughan Named Head of Firemen

Other Officers Elected at Association Meeting in Alexandria.

Samuel DeVaughan was elected president of the Alexandria Firemen's Association last night at a meeting in No. 1, firehouse on Prince street. Norman Roberts was named secretary; Francis P. Gorman, assistant secretary, and Julian J. Davis, treasurer.

The association was organized for the purpose of promoting cordial relations and cooperation between the four fire companies and two rescue squads in Alexandria. At the organization meeting some time ago, only temporary officers were named. The constitution and by-laws of the association are yet to be perfected, and the followng men were named last night on a committee to draw them up, Conard Schwab, Ernest Duffey, V. D. Edwards, G. F. Rush, R. A. Roseberry and J. E. Cobean.

The next meeting of the association will be held at No. 4, firehouse on South St. Asaph street, Alexandria, March 23.

The Meanderer

Again Has Discoveries to Offer the Hostess for Her Sunday Night Suppers; With Choice Candles to Light the Occasion.

Mint-pineapple preserves, perfect for serving with cold lamb cuts for Sunday evening, have made their appearance in the bake shop adjoining the tea room in one of our department stores. Some of the choicest lamb, by the way, is the milk-fed baby lamb featured in a downtown market on K street. This lamb is so young and tender that it is of the light pink color of veal. The mint-pineapple preserves are excellent for parfaits or ice cream toppings, if lamb is not on the menu.

The two-section rolls, white or crushed wheat, usually sold in the department store bake shop just mentioned for 20 cents a dozen are just 15 cents in the store-wide anniversary sale extending throughout the week.

Spiced bread or cheese bread, in rolled dough effects in pinwheel designs, for 15 cents a loaf in two popular bake shops is suitable for the special sandwiches so much liked for intimate suppers.

Raspberry jam without seeds! How's that for a discovery? Scotch marmalade of apricots with almonds, and homelike orange and grapefruit marmalades, are discoveries, too, all in one tantalizing counter adjoining the tearoom in a large department store.

Mushroom broth in cans, sufficient for two servings, costs but 15 cents in the food shop of an F street department store.

The truffle-liver sausage mentioned last week in this Sunday night column has drawn many inquiries. Truffles, relatives of the mushroom family imported from France, are used with goose livers to make this sausage the Meanderer found in a prepared meats shop in a market on K street.

Boston cream pie, with its whipped cream topping sprinkled with crushed pistachios, is not to be overlooked in buying toothsome bits for your party. Two bake shops I know of across from big department stores sell this delectable bit. They, too, sell French crullers with chocolate icing, that may interest you.

Delicately tinted candles, hand-dipped and dripless, are selling this week at low prices in a department store's anniversary sale. The 10-inch candle is 45 cents a dozen, the 14-inch size is 75 cents a dozen and taller ones are 95 cents a dozen. Peach, rose, blue, green, yellow, orchid and, of course, the wanted red, white and blue for special affairs this week, are among the candles' colors. Ordered in a box of a dozen this morning, these candles should have a festive and cheering effect on both guests and hostess through the coming week.

SENATE CUTS STAFF OF CAPITOL WORKERS

forming the same duties, but drawing pay varying from $1,260 to $2,040. All were placed on the uniform pay scale of $1,620, at an annual saving of $560. This brought total economies in the sergeant at arms office to $17,016.

Then he turned to the Senate secretary's office. By abolishing some positions and reducing compensation of others, he brought about a reduction of $16,080. Jobs abolished included that of assistant secretary of the Senate, at $4,500, several clerks, messengers and skilled laborers.

Next, all Senate resolutions carrying pay for various special duties were rescinded, so that no one was retained on the pay roll except those actually provided for under the last legislative appropriation act.

When the little job was completed Senator Hayden estimated it would save $43,000 in the next fifteen months and $33,000 annually. The new pay schedule will go into effect March 16. The Senate adopted his scheme in toto.

But just when it appeared the Senate was actually trying to save that amount for the much-advertised taxpayer, amendments were offered and quickly adopted which entirely offset the saving. One appropriated $30,000 for the Senate law library; another, $7,000 for legislative reference work, and a third, $15,000 for the Senate Office Building roof.

The $16,000,000 legislative supply bill passed yesterday goes to conference now for adjustment of Senate and House differences.

It leaves practically untouched the $8,000 a year barber shop, where senators get shaves and hair cuts free; does nothing about the $9,000 a year mineral water bill, or the restaurant that costs $60,000 a year to maintain.

Cosmopolitan Club Meets at Carlton

Power Board's Counsel Heard in Patriotic Address.

Speaking before the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton yesterday, Oswald Ryan, general counsel for the Federal Power Commission, drew a vivid picture of the contrast between George Washington and Lincoln. He pointed out that Washington came from the ranks of the highest aristocracy America has ever known, while Lincoln came from one of the poorest classes, yet both attained the highest honor that the United States can bestrow, the Presidency.

Mr. Ryan declared that when all the other great names of history, including Alexander the Great, Napoleon and the present-day leaders, are buried in the mists of history, that the name of Washington will live on among the immortals of all time. He said that Washington's life furnishes the perfect example for study by the youth of today.

Harold Smith reported on the recent ladies' night. Attendance prizes were won by Edmund O. Carl and Thomas J. Groom.

SO THIS IS RENO

Letters of a Capital Society Divorcee to Her Mother

Dearest Mother: This morning we gave a new arrival the shock of her life. But first I will have to tell you about our trip yesterday to Virginia City, the ghost city on top of a mountain. Seat of the famous Comstock lode that saved the country financially after the Civil War, it was here that John Mackey came with a pick on his shoulder and O'Brien and the mystic Billie Orrum, who owned no more than 20 feet, yet took over a million a year for six years from it. The town once had a population of over 100,000, and now that the precious metals lie too deep to pay for the mining, it is almost completely deserted—only 125 population. The shop doors along the empty streets are all barred and the buildings falling into decay. Only the mansions of brick, carried laboriously up the mountain, and the numerous open shafts in the hillsides remain to tell the tale. And the old saloons with their signs still up. We went into a little frame house, one of the few occupied in the town, and pillaged a collection of "gay eighty" costumes left in a trunk by an old woman who went insane before she could sell her stock.

Down the hairpin road to Reno, we chuckled with anticipation about wearing our costumes and gasped with admiration at the scenic beauty of the ride. This morning we decided to meet the Overland in these costumes, and such a scramble as went on in the various rooms along the hall. "Gosh, how did they ever live? I can't get these corsets fastened. I'm choking to death with this boned collar." Then came the bird in Nellie's hat. We nearly all had a dove. The New York girl whom we went to meet was thoroughly shaken and the train passengers, en route to California, rushed for cameras. When we went afterward to a town photographer we all put on that sweet dumb demure look that "nice" girls used to wear. I will send you one.

This afternoon I went to a party for two girls who are leaving tomorrow. They are so happy, it makes me homesick.

No more news. Yes, one juicy piece. Last Monday one woman slipped and broke her leg while coming down the courthouse steps, clutching her divorce tightly to her. Now she has to stay for weeks. What is worse, she is superstitious and takes it as a bad omen. ELIZABETH.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

600.

A FINE DEFENSE.

A FINE player capitalizes the eccentricities of bidding and play of his opponents. If your opponents overbid and get into a weird contract, it will not do you much good (unless, of course, they are vulnerable) if you just sit by and set them at 50 points a trick. A Double at the right time, followed by a winning defense, will usually afford a good reward.

The hand that provided the fireworks, in this instance, witnessed an amazing series of bad bids by the player holding the East hand. For some reason or other, fearing to play the hand at notrump because of a singleton heart, even though West had opened the bidding with one notrump, East started showing all of his four-card suits. When the three-diamond mark was reached, the South player, chiefly because he was annoyed by the bidding, doubled; and West, not knowing how badly his partner had been overbidding, decided that this was a good spot for a swing in his favor, and redoubled the hand. Thus we find East the Declarer of the contract of three diamonds, redoubled.

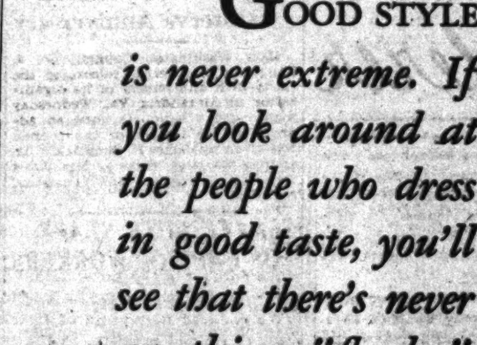
West, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

After West's Redouble, South began to have misgivings about his ability to defeat the hand, not knowing, of course, that his partner had the club King. On the bidding, he knew West to have most of the outstanding heart strength, and he decided, if he laid down the King of hearts, he would probably never be able to touch the suit again, and accordingly never be able to shorten Declarer's trumps. Deciding that this was imperative to defeat the contract, he decided to gamble that West did not have both the Queen and Knave of hearts, and therefore he led his fourth-best heart away from the Ace-King. As South hoped, Dummy went down with four hearts to the Queen-Ten. The Declarer (and who is there to blame him?) did not go up with the Queen, but played low, North's Knave winning the trick. A low heart was returned by North, which Declarer ruffed, immediately being shortened to three trumps. All he could do now was to try to cash tricks while he could. As he knew it would be hopeless to draw trumps, he accordingly led the King and Queen of spades, followed by a low spade, which South trumped. South now quite correctly decided that it would be a good idea not to let East make the trumps in his own hand and Dummy separately, and he therefore laid down the Ace and another trump. Declarer won the second round of trumps in Dummy, and led another spade, which South trumped with his last trump, and then led the King of hearts. All poor East could make now was the last trump in his own hand, and subsequently the high trump in Dummy—a total of 6 tricks in all. In other words, he was set 3 tricks redoubled, or 900 points, on a hand which should not have produced a swing of more than 100 points either way.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

West, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

ONE of my readers has just been elected president of her local club. My congratulations! But because she feels she lacks personality, poise, charm and ability, all the qualities a successful presiding officer needs, she is afraid she won't make a very successful one. I'm inclined to disagree with her, as I am sure that her fellow members recognized these virtues or she would not have been nominated and elected.

An audience, whether a small group or a large assemblage, does not look for oratory, but wants you to talk as though chatting to them. You must be sincere and enthusiastic if you wish them to catch the spirit and be impressed. Enroll in a public speaking class and visit your libraries for books on public speaking. Study and review them.

When we know that we look our best, we hold our heads a bit higher, smile a little easier, look happier and gain assurance. Plan to wear your most becoming costumes when you preside.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

THE next time grandmamma or auntie click-clicks her tongue at you and wonders aloud what young people are coming to with their rouge and their short hair and short skirts, leave an encyclopaedia open beside her night lamp, marked at Cnossus. Or better still, tell her that a beautiful lady of the bronze age has recently been unearthed in far-off Jutland, and that this lovely and apparently young damosel wore a short-skirted dress of some woolen material, a pull-over sweater of the same material but a different weave, and had bobbed hair. Not only that, but necklace, earrings and bracelets of bronze adorned her perfectly preserved contours!

'Tis said that it would take anyone seven years, going once a day, to go through the famous Louvre—so save yourself a little time by asking directions at once to the replica of the boudior of a lovely lady of Cnossus, in ancient Crete. And there gaze with awe upon what, but for a few and very minor changes, might be a replica of the boudior of any artistic and extravagant women of today. That Cnossus flourished and fell—through the wiles of a woman, 'tis further said, probably hundreds if not thousands of years before Christ, might make anyone feel a bit foolish about predicting the immediate downfall of the younger generation of today on sartorial indications, at least. For Miladi of Cnossus indulged in silken bed draperies, endless assortments of perfumes, pomades and rouge of many colors and for different parts of the body, and her tiered skirts ruffled around her ankles in a truly up-to-date (today's date) manner.

Where do we go from here, then? Fashionably speaking, I for one predict that we are facing a material ebb of the importance of fashion, started by economy and depression, and getting into its stride through common sense and an awakened interest in other forms of beauty and beauty expression in other than clothes.

Au revoir!

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

Considerable enthusiasm has been aroused over the prospects of a reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Canada. Premier Bennett told the House of Commons at Ottawa a few days ago that Canada "earnestly desires" a reciprocal trade arrangement with the United States. Representative Rainey has taken up the idea in the belief that it "would have a most beneficial effect on trade conditions throughout the world generally."

This exchange of good will between Washington and Ottawa is commendable, but the public ought not to be misled into the belief that a new stimulus to trade has been found. In any circumstances a trade agreement of this kind would have to be very limited in its scope, and it would probably mean only a shifting of trade instead of stimulating new business. Canada is anxious to sell the United States more goods, principally agricultural products. American industrialists are anxious to sell more of their output in Canada. But these desires are only a minor part of the question involved.

It is more pertinent to inquire: What can the United States buy from Canada without disturbing domestic enterprise? By far the most important item of export from Canada to this country is newsprint, which is on the free list. Canadian manufacturers can not profitably sell their goods in the United States, except in rare instances. Virtually all of Canada's exports are agricultural products or raw materials, of which this country already has a surplus. Dairy products, wheat, potatoes, cattle, hides, lumber and copper are shipped across the border in considerable volume. If greater shipments of these commodities were received from Canada, fewer shipments could be made from United States farms, mines and lumber camps. The farmers would howl in earnest if Canadian foodstuffs were given access to the American market.

A reciprocity treaty with Canada would be more difficult than such a treaty with Great Britain, France or any other overseas country. It would inevitably involve reduction of the tariff on agricultural products. Since President-elect Roosevelt has promised the farmers that agricultural tariffs will be maintained, it is rather difficult to visualize "benefits to the entire world" from any agreement that may be made with Canada.

Much of this same difficulty would arise in trying to work out reciprocal trade agreements with South American countries. Non-competitive commodities already move freely in international commerce. Duties upon competitive goods can not be lowered without increasing the difficulties of American producers, whether they are farmers or manufacturers.

There must be some good reason why more wheat and cream should be shipped here from Canada before the Government will be warranted in reducing duties on those items. American farmers will not willingly see Canadian farm products come into this market, even if American manufactures are given freer access to the Canadian market.

RUNNING THE HOUSE.

Today 20,000,000 American housewives do 85 per cent of the buying necessary for the home. Man no longer holds the family pursestrings, and an extensive survey of the household field shows that his banishment from kitchen finance is a good thing. A Chicago company, the Household Finance Corporation, makes loans to nearly a quarter of a million families every year, and its records demonstrate that women are the most capable dispensers of the family income.

This corporation finds that the husband who turns over his pay check and leaves buying and paying of bills to his wife is freer from debt worries, gets into fewer "financial jams," and is comparatively more prosperous than other men in relation to income. It is the women who are responsible for a reputation of extravagance among their sex.

Expert investigation shows that the man who is absent all day and yet attempts to manage the details of the family finances usually makes a botch of it. It is found that the ideal arrangement is for the husband to be chairman of the board and also president, if it suits his dignity, ready for consultation and advice on major matters, but with the wife constituted general manager and cashier, to run the house and pay the bills. This system, combined with definite spending plans, makes for happiness and efficiency.

The corporation in question, which evidently does much kitchen snooping, urges that G. M. Wife have a desk where she can properly take care of her bills and accounts. The average modern housewife handles more business transactions than her grandfather ever did, and she should not rely upon shoving papers under table covers or hiding them behind books. The woman who must care for the spending of the money needs proper desk facilities, just as the man does who earns it.

BETTER NAVAL PROSPECTS.

If President-elect Roosevelt has not made up his mind as to what his naval policy will be, that question will be brought sharply to his attention soon after he enters the White House. Representative Vinson, chairman of the House committee on naval affairs, has given notice that he will press for funds to build the Navy up to treaty limits. Senator Swanson, whose appointment as Secretary of the Navy seems to be certain, may be expected to indorse such a program. Mr. Roosevelt, who once served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, has an active interest in the subject.

The change of administration will furnish an excellent opportunity to modify the American naval policy. Mr. Roosevelt can go forward and build the Navy up to treaty limits without starting an armaments race or arousing the suspicion of any nation. Provision can be made to bring the Navy up to parity with that of Great Britain and to a 5-3 ratio with that of Japan without in any way disrupting the naval limitation treaties or discouraging further disarmament.

As Mr. Vinson suggests, the naval construction program should be spread over a number of years so as to develop the Navy at an even rate without imposing too heavy a burden upon taxpayers. Failure to adopt such a program might cost the Nation far more than the price of the additional ships needed to make national defense more secure. Japan has been rapidly building ships, while Congress has dawdled. Japan is now in a position of virtual parity with the United States, and in many respects her navy is superior to the American fleet. Japan seems deliberately to have created this situation so that she will be in a position to demand parity with the United States in the next naval conference. By failure to take advantage of treaty rights this Government is sacrificing its position on the high seas.

Conditions in the world today make it dangerous for Congress to delay naval construction. The machinery of peace on which the world has placed considerable reliance since the World War is facing a crucial test. Regardless of the pacific intentions of the Government, this country may again be drawn into the vortex of war. If a crisis should arise, the United States would again be unprepared, as it was in 1917.

Mr. Vinson's program, together with Senator Swanson's appointment as Secretary of the Navy, leads to the hope that this situation will be corrected. Senator Swanson's stand for adequate national defense is well known. It appears that Mr. Roosevelt has chosen him because of his experience in this field and because their views coincide in the matter of building up the Navy.

SMUGGLING ALIENS.

Since the adoption of the quota restrictions on immigration to the United States, and particularly since the more rigid enforcement of exclusion laws, abuses have multiplied in connection with the illegal entry of aliens who arrive in American ports signed on as sailors. It has been ruled by the Supreme Court that, once in port, they cannot be detained in involuntary servitude on shipboard. Gaining shore leave, the alien "seamen" disappear, thus securing admission which could not be gained if they applied as immigrants.

Thousands of immigrants, not only Europeans, but Orientals as well, are known to have gained entrance by posing as seamen. By thus evading the laws they have added to unemployment. Unscrupulous shipmasters have found this a profitable field to exploit, as many aliens are willing to pay as much as $1,000 for the privilege of a chance to sneak into this country.

A measure now before Congress would remedy this situation and plug the leak in the immigration regulations. The King-Schneider bill would make the owners of vessels responsible for the crews they bring to American shores. Before being given shore leave all alleged seamen would be subject to inspection, and if found subject to immigration restrictions would be restrained and deported in like manner as other inadmissible aliens. For the protection of legitimate seamen and to prevent the abuses that have arisen in contravention of exclusion laws, it is urgent that the bill to stop this corrupt practice should receive favorable consideration from Congress during the present session.

A SOP TO SILVER.

Just a week before adjournment the House committee on coinage comes forth with a silver remonetization bill. At first the committee flatly rejected the Somers bill. Then in a moment of repentance it sent the measure to the House by a vote of 9 to 1. No comprehensive plan has been worked out for the use of silver in the monetary system. On one hand, the committee throws a sop in the direction of the silverites, and on the other, it makes a feeble gesture to the inflationists.

Representative Somers' bill would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase $250,000,000 worth of silver bullion over a period of five years by issuing silver certificates. Not more than 40,000,000 ounces per month could be accepted. For three months the price would be 40 cents per ounce; for the next three months, 50 cents, and for the third three months, 60 cents per ounce. After nine months the Secretary of the Treasury would be allowed to purchase enough to advance the price of silver—at a rate not exceeding 1 per cent per month—to 75 cents per ounce. It is contemplated that silver should be stabilized at that point.

Many leading economists are agreed that silver could be profitably used as an auxiliary to the gold standard much more extensively than it is at present. Various plans have been advanced for the issuance of silver certificates promising to pay on demand an indefinite amount of silver to be measured by the gold price of silver at the time the demand is made. In this way, it is believed, a broader metallic base for money could be established and confidence strengthened.

But the House bill does not approach the problem from this angle. Its chief purpose seems to be stabilization of the price of silver. Obviously, there can be no motive for raising the price of silver to 75 cents per ounce unless the Government should decide upon a definite policy for use of the white metal. Such a policy has not been decided upon, and the whole silver question will hang in abeyance until the World Economic Conference disposes of it.

It would be extremely unwise for the United States to buy silver at fictitious values. A world-wide agreement on the use of silver as a handmaiden to gold should be obtained. To bring forth a silver purchasing bill now is merely to encourage false hopes in those groups which are seeking higher silver prices for their own profit. If any action is taken on silver it should be designed to strengthen the monetary system and not merely to raise the price of a commodity.

INSTALLMENT TAXPAYING.

New York City has found a way to ease the burden of lump-sum payment of taxes. The legislature at Albany has just passed a bill which authorizes the issuance of tax anticipation warrants in units of $10 and upward. A taxpayer may purchase these certificates at any time throughout the year. They will bear interest up to the last day for payments and can be utilized for tax settlements in May and November.

This scheme in some measure affords the advantage of the sales tax, in that it permits the accumulation of tax money in small amounts which, in some instances, will pay more interest than could be earned in a savings account.

Corporations that pay millions in taxes will be enabled to make a profitable investment of surplus funds, while many individuals and small concerns operating on a monthly budget system will find the new arrangement distinctly advantageous. The object of the city, in its present great need for funds, is not entirely with an eye single to the taxpayer's interest. The new plan will bring in funds between the half-yearly tax dates that will be most acceptable to the municipal treasury in this period of slow collections. This New York idea is one that might be adapted to advantage in many lines of business.

With Commodore Claude Swanson at the helm, Old Point Comfort resumes its ancient place as the most strategic spot in the western hemisphere.

Another 20,000-word radio shot from Geneva and Japan will go into or upon the air.

SANCTIONS FOR JAPAN?

From the Detroit Free Press.

When the question of American membership in the League of Nations was a hot issue in Washington the principal "sticker" was Article XVI of the Covenant. That article provides, among other things, that if a member of the league shall resort to war in violation of other terms of the covenant, "it shall, ipso facto, be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the league." And those other members bind themselves to immediately subject the offender to "the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the Covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not."

A few days ago in Geneva the question of invoking this drastic sanction against Japan was raised by members of the committee of nineteen of the league, and the reaction from the Japanese delegation at the league capital was immediate. "I am told that mention was made today of the enforcement of sanctions," remarked Yosuke Matsuoka, the peppery head of that delegation. "All I can say is that if that is the way the committee of nineteen is thinking, let them enforce sanctions. What will be the result? A second world war."

Cocky talk that and full of bluff. Because a war growing out of the establishment of a financial, trade and personal intercourse blockade of Japan would be a war in which that country would be the military aggressor. It would have to go out and attack the great powers. There would be a great difference between this and merely defying those powers to step in and dislodge it from its present positions in Manchuria and Jehol.

Nevertheless, the situation provides significant evidence that the United States was wise in staying out of the league. Were it a member, Geneva probably would have little hesitancy about invoking sanctions, and then we would be in another nasty mess not of our making. As it is, we can remain out of the whole controversy if we choose. Or can we?

If the improbable should occur and Geneva should invoke Article XVI, the action in order to be complete would involve an attempt to blockade all intercourse between America and Japan as well as intercourse between league states and Japan, which would be a direct assault on American sovereignty. Then one of three things would happen: The United States would acquiesce in the action of the league. It would make common cause with Japan. Or it would protest to Geneva and Geneva would "crawl." Which of these things would happen is anybody's guess.

ANSWERING A LETTER.

And this you write: "Because I laughed away
The pretty little praises of the throng,
As if to me they could not quite belong,
You thought I mocked them on that happy day
And scorned the compliments they came to pay;
You thought me coldly cynical. How wrong
Appearance often is, and oh! how strong
And deep the swift impression on the clay!

Not heedless nor indifferent was I then,
Nor all ungrateful, but awe-struck and terrified,
To gain such kindness from my fellowmen,
To win your friendship struck so deep inside
That had I not made jest of it, I pen
The truth—for joy I should have cried.

Typhoid Is Still a Plague Where the Illiterate Trust to Luck for Immunity.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE greatest mistake a general can make is to underestimate the strength of the enemy. Almost invariably it leads to disaster.

But it is our nature to see the thing we wish to see and believe the thing we wish to believe, and a delusion always has more appeal than the ugly fact that destroys it.

Thousands of people invite disaster by waiting too long to consult a physician. They would rather live a little while in fancied security than to learn the awful truth that would save them.

Perhaps that is a national characteristic. During the mad boom days of '28 and '29, the Nation's political and financial leaders knew shipwreck was inevitable; yet they looked on in silence, afraid to give warning, hoping for a miracle to make reality unreal.

Now the Nation faces two grave perils that are clearly apparent to every citizen capable of logical thought, but no plans are made to escape or overcome them.

We like the sunny side and happy endings, and we are annoyed by one who views with alarm.

Yet here the perils are, like it or not.

You think taxes are high now. Well, you are still paying Mexican War pensions. Civil War pensions are costing you over $100,000,000 a year. And within a few years, unless taxpayers rebel, statesmen angling for votes will provide a pension for every veteran of the World War—and the cost will exceed the total present cost of government.

The other peril is war—and as usual we shall be caught unprepared because we hide the truth concerning our other wars and that makes us feel secure.

We didn't win the Revolution. France won it for us.

We lost the War of 1812—despite the lies in our school histories.

We endured four years of fratricidal amateur butchery when one corps of trained regulars, as the British observer told Lee after Antietam, could have ended the struggle quickly.

We licked Spain because the job was a set-up, but our own stupidity cost us more men than the enemy killed.

In the World War we used English rifles and French 75s until the last, and never at any time had half of the motor transport we needed.

Who will hold the next enemy for us while we are getting ready?

Of course, it's a dismal business to think about such things; but if people weren't sanely afraid of fire, there would be no equipment to fight it.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Asks Roosevelt to Help.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

There is little Mr. Hoover can do. In his message to Congress on Monday he did all an outgoing President has within his power to do.

He called attention to the supreme need for acting upon the pending banking, bankruptcy, loan and relief legislation. He once more pointed out the now admitted and very real dangers of making public the loans granted by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

President-elect Roosevelt is the only American who could give the necessary impetus and direction. It is natural that he should hesitate now with his inaugural so near at hand. Yet Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly could cause the swift repeal of the dangerous publicity provisions affecting reconstruction loans. A word from him would speed the new banking and bankruptcy laws on their way to enactment.

It should be possible for Mr. Roosevelt and his Secretary-designate, Mr. Woodin, to work with Secretary Mills and the Congress as Mr. Roosevelt worked with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson in the war-debt and Chinese situations. A day now may mean more than a month would mean in the not distant future, Time is vital now, for "time is itself an element" in a situation that is full of uneasiness and uncertainties.

The amendment repealing the eighteenth amendment is bound to occupy the spotlight, but should not obscure another pending amendment to the Constitution, namely that giving Congress power to regulate child labor. This amendment, already ratified by seven States, is under consideration in the Ohio General Assembly. It has been approved by the House of Representatives in Ohio and is now before the Senate.

Measures That Failed.

Springfield Republican.

Unemployment in Great Britain is now at about the maximum recorded since the war. Going off the gold standard has had no beneficial effect, if unemployment figures furnish a test of national well-being. Raising the British tariff to a protective basis has had no magical effect, either. The British even balanced their budget and nothing has happened in consequence of that stroke to lessen the depression. They refunded the national debt at a lower interest rate without starting anything. They already had a first-class banking system, under which no bank failures have occurred to shake public confidence, but things get no better.

The British seem to have nothing left of a remedial nature that they can do, except to stop payments on their war debt to the United States Treasury.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Conroy Recalls Several Freaks of English Statesmen in Dealing With Americans.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The approaching visit to Washington of Neville Chamberlain and his associates in the British cabinet to discuss the matter of the British war debts, recalls the visit of his father, Joe Chamberlain, in 1888, when the fisheries dispute was agitating the people of both countries.

Before leaving England, Joe Chamberlain made rather a flippant speech with respect to the claims of the Canadians. It was not an auspicious opening and his political mission was a failure.

Whether or not it was the fisheries quarrel or the personality of Mr. Chamberlain that aroused unusual interest throughout the country can not be accurately answered at this time, but it is a fact his appearance created considerable commotion.

Sackville West, who was then British Ambassador and colleague of Chamberlain, was led into an indiscretion unworthy of a veteran diplomat, by answering a letter to an alleged British-American citizen in which he took occasion to interject his own views into American politics. This letter cost Sackville West his job, Cleveland sending him his passports through Mr. Bayard.

While Joe Chamberlain's visit was a failure politically, he was highly successful in a personal direction by marrying Miss Endicott, of Salem, Mass., a daughter of William C. Endicott, a noble old-fashioned Democrat, who had been selected by Mr Cleveland to sit in his Cabinet as Secretary of War, a distinction which thrilled the Democratic minority in Massachusetts, almost as much as the Democratic majority in that State would be enthused today if Mr. Roosevelt were to select a member of his Cabinet from the Old Bay State.

Neville Chamberlain was a boy of 18 or 19 when his new stepmother arrived in England.

The Endicotts were charming people, of highest culture and rare refinement, and from them young Mr. Chamberlain should have had opportunity to acquire most favorable impressions regarding the American people.

This home training and subsequent opportunity for political instruction from Lady Astor as to Americans appears to have been lost on Mr. Chamberlain.

"Will they never learn?"

It would be a useful contribution to American diplomatic history if some one, learned in the case, would relate all the facts surrounding the refusal of President Wilson to receive Lord Grey, who had been appointed as Ambassador to the United States, but went home without ever seeing the President.

American Taxpayers Already Paying $570,000,000 Annually Because of Failure of War Debtors to Pay.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a paper gotten out by brokerage firms, or in their interest, there is an item on the problem of war debts. These two sentences are quoted:

"Money paid by Europe on its debts, obviously is not available to purchase our goods. On the other hand, money received from abroad will be, in the main, respent here by those who receive it."

The genius who wrote that should be well paid by exporters and importers. When the gloss is taken off those two sentences, we get down to this: If the Government will just tax the American taxpayer to pay Europe's debts, then Europe will spend for United States goods some of the money which the Government, by canceling the foreign debts, relieves them from paying. In this way the exporter and importer will become rich on money raised from the American taxpayer, who is already overburdened. It is time that newspapers and writers told the truth about the foreign debts.

The burden today of European debts on the American taxpayer is nearly $15,000,000,000, over $10,000,000,000 being the original debt and nearly $5,000,000,000 being interest paid by the American taxpayer which Europe has failed to pay. The increased interest amounts to almost 50 per cent of the original foreign debt. On that $15,000,000,000 the American taxpayers are now paying approximately $570,000,000 annually, or just about double the $290,000,000 which the European nations should pay in 1933 if they pay all that they have agreed to pay.

To sum up, if we have cancellation, or near cancellation, America will be paying, at 4 per cent, $600,000,000 interest yearly on Europe's debts from now on, except as the principal of approximately $15,000,000,000 is reduced. If the interest rate on American bonds be reduced to 3 per cent, we would be paying $450,000,000 yearly. Thus, the American taxpayer is to be pauperized to pay Europe's debts, which the publication referred to apparently would like to see in the interest of the importers and exporters.

Thinks Vote for "Dictator" Should Cause Congressmen to Be Thrown Out.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The present situation in Congress is due to the inaction of the members and their desire for a dictator is really their desire to pass the buck, and is in no way due to inability of Congress to act.

This being so, all members of Congress who vote for a dictator should be defeated at the next election, for the reason that they have shown moral cowardice and are unfit for the job. CONSTITUTIONALIST.

Stocks Again Touch Bottom Under Brisk Selling Drive

Letdown Is Wide in Range as Trading Climbs to 1,326,403 Shares.

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Unable to recover their spirits over the holiday, financial markets were mostly lower today. There was a general letdown in stock prices. Shares made their poorest showing around noon when selling was brisk, later resuming the dullness that has characterized recent declines. There was, however, little or no recovery from the lows and final prices averaged more than 2 points lower in principal issues. Turnover totaled 1,326,403 shares, with two exceptions the year's largest volume.

Concrete news developments, aside from the action of the markets themselves, were rather negative. Trade reports, except for a few freight loadings, suggested that some recession in business activity had occurred; also the Michigan banking situation was still on the financial community's mind, and reflection of somewhat tighter money markets was taken for granted in the weekly Federal Reserve statements. Time funds firmed.

For shares, heaviness was well distributed and all groups used in the 90-stock composite made new lows for the year. For several rails, including Santa Fe, New York Central and Union Pacific, losses amounted to 2 points or more. Elsewhere American Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey, United Aircraft, American Can, Johns-Manville, Industrial Rayon and Auburn put themselves in the same range.

Telephone was presumably disturbed by another dividend reduction, that of the Canadian Bell Co., which also cut last August. North American's reduction in its common stock dividend to 2 per cent from 2½ had been discounted to a degree, for the stock held its recession to a point. National Lead, whose dividend rate held, closed unchanged. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Du Pont, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, General Motors and International Harvester were off about a point net.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Thurs.	Tues.
Advances	36	130
Declines	481	262
Unchanged	124	152
Total issues	641	544

Stocks.

A general let-down sent the list of 90 selected stocks to the bottom for 1933. Losses averaged 2.2 points. Trading volume climbed to 1,326,403 shares.

Bonds.

The market recorded its heaviest losses for the year. Declines averaged 1.1 points. Federal issues were under pressure again, and the slump included a wide range of loans. Sales mounted to $15,125,000.

Curb.

Prices weakened decidedly under the influence of other slumps. Some mining and oil stocks resisted the selling wave. The turnover increased to 200,000 shares.

Wheat.

Corn toppled and dragged wheat and other grains lower. Selling pressure developed. Heavy corn receipts and the securities' slumps were blamed. May wheat sold at 47½ to 47⅝ cents.

Cotton.

Pronounced strength in cotton finally yielded to liquidation. The general market sold down 3 to 10 points. May closed at 6.04. Liverpool reported a quiet market with a moderate turnover of Russian cotton.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Cheerfulness was maintained on the stock exchange with sold mining issues, Japanese bonds and industrials registering further improvement on broader business. Transatlantic issues eased and gilt-edged securities also declined owing to lower sterling exchange. Argentine rails were easy on dividend fears. The closing was steady.

Paris—The bourse showed slight improvement on purchases due partly to the Senate vote on provisional credits. The closing was irregular.

Berlin—Prices opened cheerful on the bourse but closed listlessly.

BONDS SINK LOWER ON SELLING DRIVES

All Grades of Loans Yield to 1.1 Losses in Sale of $15,125,000.

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—The bond market suffered its worst relapse of the year today, and losses ranging from 1 to 5 or more points hit the highest grade investment groups as well as the more insecure speculative categories.

Leading the precipitate decline were United States Government obligations, some of which dropped nearly 2 points in trading that was not unusually active. It was the most discouraging day for the Federals in more than a year. Most foreign bonds also were heavy, although resistance developed in some groups of this section.

Sales totaled $15,125,000, par value, while the Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans lost 1.1 points.

The severe reaction was attributed largely to renewed selling by institutions desiring greater liquidity. Wide gaps between bids and offers accounted for extreme losses in several issues which normally follow a narrow range. The economic and political pictures virtually were unchanged.

As indicative of the apparent hurried liquidation, the usually stable American Telephones were off fractionally to as much as 3¼ points. There was a heavy turnover of Santa Fe general 4s at a loss of 4½ points, while Union Pacific issues gave up 1 to 6⅜ points. Among the other principal victims were Consolidated Gas 5s, off 2; Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, off 3½; Central Pacific first 4s, off 5; Burlington 4½s, off 5; Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s, off 2¼; Liggett & Myers 7s, off 1½; National Dairy 5¼s, off 2; New York Central loans, off 1 to 5; Reading 4½s, off 10¾; Shell Union Oil 5s, off 3, and Texas & Pacific first 5s, off 5.

Numerous rails and utilities lost 1 to 3 or more points and most of the lower priced industrials were equally nonresistant.

In the foreign division gains were held by issues of Australia, Great Britain, Denmark and Poland. Japanese government loans rallied about 2 points. German government 5½s dropped 2⅝ points.

Brazil Considers Exporting Raw Silk as Industry Grows

(Pan-American News.)

Rio de Janeiro, Feb. 23.—Brazil's silk industry has been steadily growing in recent years, has now definitely passed the period of adolescence and is a full fledged factor. Home demand is being rapidly covered and possibilities of the export field are appearing. There are quite a number who believe that Brazil will be able eventually to supply a good portion of South American demand for silk textiles, while production of raw silk may increase to the extent that exports to the United States will be possible. It is believed that Brazil may be able to compete successfully with Japanese raw silks.

The Brazilian silk industry is centered today at Campinas, Sao Paulo, but it is gradually spreading to other states. At Campinas, the National Silk Industries Co., in addition to its strictly industrial departments maintains an institute of sericulture where the selection of eggs is made in accordance with the Pasteur microscopical method. The Institute has mulberry plantations at various points, distributes gratuitously a large volume of clippings to growers in different states, and there are several experimental stations in Sao Paulo where those interested are instructed in mulberry culture and silk worm breeding.

Brazil is now producing everything typical of the silk trade, from the worm to the finish products. In Sao Paulo alone, 5,000 people are breeding silk worms and there are 10,000,000 mulberry trees in full foliage. Some 6,700 people are employed in silk factories. Scientists have succeeded in breeding an acclimatized worm, called Ouro Brazil, which is a great producer. At Barbacena, State of Minas Gerass, the federal government maintains a station which distributed 268,365 mulberry cuttings and 11,990 grammes of silk-worm eggs in 1931, while nearly 7,000,000 cuttings were distributed by the National Silk Industries Co. between 1924 and 1931.

Production of cocoons has shown steady increase, of from 19,840 pounds in 1923-24 to 1,102,300 pounds in 1931-32. Imports of silk textiles have declined from 147,700 pounds in 1924 to 15,400 pounds in 1931.

Advance in Metals Is Seen by Leader

Prices Becoming Steady as Bottom Levels Are Reached.

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Indications that metals have reached the bottom of their depression and are ready for a rise were reported to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers today by its president, Scott Turner. He is director of the United States Bureau of Mines.

Metals, he said, dropped in production in the past three years to 21 per cent of their annual average for the previous five years. Pig iron, copper and lead went down to 1898 and 1899 levels.

"What may be an indication that the price level will drop no lower in 1933," he said, "is shown by the fact that during 1932 the average price of mineral commodities became steady while the decline in the general average of all commodities continued. In 1930 and 1931 prices of minerals and of all commodities were virtually parallel."

CURB'S DROP DEFIED BY MINES AND OILS

Other Slumps Cause Losses as Sales Mount to 200,000 Shares.

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—The curb market weakened rather decidedly today, although some of the mining and oil shares withstood the wave of selling.

The market was influenced more by the general slump in securities markets, rather than by special influences. The turnover swelled to 200,000 shares, the largest in more than a week.

The Electric Bond & Share issues were under particular pressure, the common dropping 3 points, then recovering a fraction. The 6 per cent preferred closed off 4¼. Niagara Hudson & American Superpower lost substantial fractions, and American Gas & Electric more than a point. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore reacted 2¾, then recovered to close unchanged. Directors recently ordered the regular dividend on this issue.

Activity in gold mining issues was less enthusiastic than recently, but Lake Shore & Pioneer gained small fractions. In the oils, Standard of Indiana closed a shade higher, and Gulf lost only ¼ of a point.

In industrials, Aluminum Co. lost 3½, and Deere 1. Trading in this division was quieter than elsewhere but declines prevailed. Nevertheless, Mapes Consolidated gained a point, and New York Shipbuilding a small fraction, in light trading.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 38.70 per cent, compared with 34.12 last week.

Rate of discount, 2 per cent.

BANK OF FRANCE.

Paris, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes in francs: Gold decreased 361,000,000; sight balances abroad decreased 134,000,000; bills discounted at home increased 197,000,000; bills bought abroad increased 142,000,000; advances increased 8,000,000; circulation decreased 848,000,000; current accounts increased 434,000,000. Rate of discount, 2½ per cent.

Railroads Agree to Cut Freight Rate on Wheat

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Railroads east of Buffalo have tentatively agreed to lower the freight rate on wheat from Buffalo to New York to 4½ cents a bushel from the present rate of 9.1 cents, it was learned today. Rates to Philadelphia and Baltimore are also included in the agreement and would be one-half cent per hundred pounds less than the 4½ cent tariff, under this arrangement.

Adoption of the lower rate is contingent upon willingness of the Buffalo elevator interests to reduce their charge for elevation from 1 cent to ½ cent a bushel. Unless a hitch develops, the new schedule will become effective on April 15.

CORN DRAGS WHEAT INTO LOWER LEVEL

Selling Pressure Pushes All Grains Lower; Heavy Receipts Blamed.

Chicago, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Toppled over by a sudden increase of selling pressure, corn today outdid the season's low-price record, and dragged downward all other grains.

Big receipts of corn today and augmented prospects of a large movement of corn soon from farms to domestic primary markets had much to do with increased selling. Contributing to weakness of cereals was unsettlement of securities.

Corn closed nervous, ¾ to 1 cent under Tuesday's finish; wheat, ⅝ to ¾ down; oats, ⅛ to ⅜ off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

All deliveries of corn broke to fresh bottom levels. A flurry of liquidating sales in the final hour of trading ran the market into stop-loss orders, and on the ensuing downward sweep of values May corn contracts in Chicago went below the price of May oats at Winnipeg, a paradoxical situation rarely if ever before encountered. Arrivals of corn in Chicago today aggregated 378 cars, against 155 a week ago and 347 at this time last year.

Wheat and oats moved lower as a result of sympathy with corn weakness. Strength of silver, unfavorable domestic developments and reports that Chinese and Japanese buyers had reentered the wheat market had only a transient stimulating effect.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to hog market upturns.

NEW YORK MILLIONS FLOW OUT TO NATION

Funds From Imports of Gold and Federal Reserve Distributed Widely.

(Associated Press.)

Although New York City is the country's greatest financial center, funds arising from the imports of gold and the open market operation of the Federal Reserve Board were said yesterday by the board to be distributed over the entire country.

The board in its monthly review of business and financial conditions said that in 1931 $400,000,000 of funds moved from New York to the interior in the account of the United States Treasury and that in 1932 such transfers amounted to $950,000,000.

The first move in handling Government securities, the board said, was wisely concentrated at New York banks as the city is a large consuming market and buys from all over the country. The review said subscriptions or securities floated for the purpose of raising new capital are usually heavy in the New York market and the funds collected from investors there are dispersed throughout the country in construction activity, in payment for materials, in shipping and through other channels.

Loans by Banks.

"Loans made by New York banks to national corporations with headquarters in New York are also likely to be reflected, directly or indirectly, in a movement of funds out of New York," the board said.

"Treasury operations generally tend in the same direction, and during the past year, when the other factors have been smaller than usual, Treasury operations, including those in connection with the activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, have been the principal factors in distributing throughout the country funds raised in New York by the Treasury.

"That a large part of the funds acquired in New York by the Treasury became available to banks outside New York, is indicated by the net disbursement by the Treasury outside the New York Federal Reserve District.

"This shows that in 1931 the net movement of funds to the interior on Treasury account amounted altogether to about $400,000,000 and that in the second quarter of 1931 this movement was especially large, reflecting large disbursements in the interior arising out of loans on the bonus certificates and also out of certain Farm Board operations.

"In 1932 these net transfers amounted to about $950,000,000 reflecting in addition to ordinary expenditures of the Government the effects of emergency activities and particularly disbursements of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation representing loans to interior banks and other institutions."

The board reported 237 banks with deposits of $142,719,000 had suspended during January while 18 banks with deposits of $9,368,000 had reopened.

Gold of World.

The board listed the total gold of the world at $11,880,000,000, with the United States holding $4,064,000,000 at the end of January. At the end of last year France held $3,254,000,000 in gold but lost $33,000,000 in January. The close of the year also found Belgium with $361,000,000, and England with $583,000,000 but the latter gained $19,000,000 in January.

Germany gained $4,000,000 last month to a total of $196,000,000 while Italy held $307,000,000 at the end of December. The board said the Bank of France, in addition to losing the gold, also lost $1,900,000 in foreign exchange.

STRENGTH IN COTTON YIELDS TO REACTION

May Closes at 6.04 as General Market Drops 3 to 10 Points.

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—After showing considerable strength during today's earlier trading, cotton turned easier under liquidation and Wall street selling attributed to weakness in the stock market.

May contracts, which had advanced to 6.20 on the early demand, or 10 points higher, broke to 6.00 and closed at 6.04. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 3 to 10 points.

The progress of cotton relief legislation indicated by overnight reports from Washington, and the early advance in silver, were considered factors on the advance, which carried March up to 6.08 and July to 6.32, making net gains of about 7 to 13 points on the active positions.

Very little Southern selling was reported here during the day, and the opening demand included some further buying through houses with foreign connections, including Liverpool and the Continent, while there was also a little buying through brokers who sometimes act for Far Eastern interests.

Liverpool cables reported a quiet, steady market there, with a moderate turnover of Russian cotton in the spot market, and said the cloth market in Manchester was quiet with margins unremunerative. Exports today, 33,786, making 5,574,501 so far this season. Port receipts, 4,750. U. S. port stocks, 4,628,214.

North American Company Cuts Common Return; Preferred Usual.

New York, Feb. 23 (A.P.).—National Lead Co. today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the common stock. The usual disbursement of $1.50 a share on the class "B" preferred was also voted.

The North American Co. today reduced the quarterly stock dividend on the common stock to 2 per cent from the 2½ per cent rate, which had been in effect for many years.

The reduction, President Frank L. Dame said, was regarded by the board as a conservative measure in the light of present conditions. The company, he added, had no intention of making any other change in the stock dividend policy.

The regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the preferred stock was also ordered. Both are payable April 1 to stock of record March 6.

FAIRFAX TAX RATE SLASH IS PROPOSED

Tentative Budget Based on Decrease of 10 Cents on Every $100.

That the tax rate in Fairfax County, Va., would be decreased 10 cents on the $100 valuation during the next fiscal year despite a possible increase in school costs, under the tentative county budget on which taxes will be based this fall, was brought out at a joint meeting of the county board of supervisors and school board yesterday.

The joint meeting was held for the purpose of discussing school needs for next year and the tentative school budget completed last week by the School Board. Many letters were received from various organizations in the county, protesting a decrease in the rate of teachers pay as a means of tax relief.

It was shown that under the tentative budget of the school board and a decrease in the amount contributed to the local schools by the State that the school tax rate would have to be increased 10 cents over the present rate of 90 cents, to meet the expenses and retain present schedule of teacher pay.

Rate Slash Predicted.

While the school tax rate would be increased, it was brought out that the rate for general county expenses would possibly be reduced from 45 to 25 cents for next year. This would be accomplished by the transfer of the roads to State control and the placing of funds now in the county road account in the general county levy fund. Also by a curtailment of county operating expenses. The tentative county budget, prepared last month by the supervisors, asks that $69,045 be raised for county expenses exclusive of schools.

To further curtail school expenses for next year and keep the amounts expected within the limit the board can receive under the maximum tax rate of $1 on the $100 property valuation, the school board voted to stop the automatic increases in principals' salaries for increased enrollments and to save $1,060 on insurance premiums. The dog tax fund, formerly diverted to road work, will now go for school purposes.

Much New Building.

James U. Kincheloe, county commissioner of revenue, appeared before the meeting and stated that the assessment of personal property will fall off approximately $150,000 from the current year, but he expects to offset this by an increase in assessment of new buildings, as there had been more construction in the county than for many years previous.

Several delegations appeared before the meeting opposing the decrease of teachers salaries and in general stated that it would be false economy to cut a progressive school program. Several said that they would rather see taxes increased than cut the teachers' pay. R. C. Lewis, of Clifton, and F. Shield McCandlish, of Fairfax, advocated the cuts in teachers' pay as a means of reducing taxes. They stated that every one else, even the farmer and professional men, had taken a cut and they thought it only fair the teacher accept a similar reduction.

Cost Estimate Too High.

W. T. Woodson, county superintendent of schools, stated that the total costs of school system, including payment on bond issues, literary loans, interest payments and general operating expenses would only amount to $218,000 instead of $300,000, as stated in recent public meetings. This includes both county and district funds.

Woodson also stated that the total literary loan due for the entire county was $87,276.31 and the bonded indebtedness $49,434.34, a total of $136,711.65. He advocated adoption of the county unit plan of capital outlay for school buildings and the payment of all such indebtedness. He pointed out that such a plan would prove economical in the long run.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With Nelson B. Bell's "Stooge"

A LATHERED representative of one of the larger telegraph companies (there'll be no free advertising in this column) his blue uniform in a state of disrepute, brings a wire from William Fields. Bill to you, in Albany, N. Y., reminding that "Green Pastures," which closes its engagement at the National Sunday will on that date be celebrating its third anniversary, the show having opened February 26, 1930. With a colored cast, it is no more than fitting that the anniversary performance should be for members of that race.

Another message on congressional stationery reveals the fact that through the courtesy of Albert L. Rule and Ben H. Serkowich, compilers and distributors of "The Big Drive," recently shown at RKO-Keith's, members of Congress will be able to see this moving record of World War action at a private showing Monday night. The affair will be held in the caucus room of the House at 8 o'clock.

George Raft, mentioned in this space recently when he was suspended by Paramount for refusing to accept a gangster role, yesterday broke his silence by saying he didn't mind accepting ordinary tough parts, but this one sank to too low a level and he had to apply the brakes some time or ruin his career. Raft says no salary dispute is involved.

Just a reminder that John Barrymore in "Topaze" remains at RKO-Keith's through today, tomorrow and Sunday, with Irene Dunne opening in "No Other Woman" on Monday, to be followed Friday, March 3, by Richard Dix in "The Great Jasper."

Of interest to the youngsters of Washington is the news that during the week's engagement of "The Piccoli" at the National, commencing March 6, there will be matinees every day from Tuesday through Saturday. This Italian puppet show is reported as one of the best and of great interest to the children.

I am informed that the Hart Sisters headlining the floor show at the Madrilion are tapping their way into the hearts of Washington, while Peggy O'Neal is singing her way into the same hearts. Addition of Elaine Mansi, acrobatic dancer, is also announced by the management.

Nelson's "Stooge" missed Col. Harry E. Loug when he galloped through here Wednesday returning from his first vacation in five years in Florida. However, I'm told that coat of tan is a whiz. Also the "Stooge" missed the formal dedication of the 1934 bar in the lobby of the Fox which is part of the ballyhoo for "What, No Beer?" which opens there today. It is reliably reported that the members of the press bent a mean pretzel yesterday p. m.

A line from Corbin Sheild, former manager of RKO-Keith's and before that long identified with the Rialto, brings the tidings that Corbin is now managing the National Theater in Stockton, Calif., one of Hedwood chain of houses on the coast.

Sam Goldwyn, interviewed in New York, has come out flatly against sex pictures, including in his general declaration against modern films the gangsters stories. "I believe, quite seriously, that the time has arrived for us to go back to costume pictures. I believe the fine old costume pictures would be like a breath of fresh air after the avalanche of sex and gangsters that has been inflicted on the industry."

Those who like their plays with an Irish flavor will find themselves, "Wearing o' the Green," at the auditorium of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Eighth and N streets northwest, this afternoon, tonight or at matinee and night performances tomorrow. The Irish Players are presenting a musical review, "A Night in Ireland," on the stage and "Sweet Inniscarra" on the screen.

Yowza, yowza! Ben Bernie, the old maestro, and all the lads including Pat Kennedy, Manny Crager and Frank Prince, will do a little playing for "youse guys and youse gals" come week of March 10 at the Earle. So if all "youse guys and youse gals" wanta getta the besta of music, just maka your plansa to get down in fronta that weeka so will you getta the mosta.

Fo'give me, fo'give me.

WRITERS AT ALBANY HOLD SATIRE DINNER

Roosevelt and Smith Are Targets of Numerous Jovial Jibes.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Hilarious jibes which spared no one and found an especial target in President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, both of whom were present, were served up tonight at the annual dinner of the Albany Legislative Correspondents Association.

This dinner show is one of the oldest of the kind in America, antedating even the famous Gridiron dinner of the Washington correspondents and the inner circle stunts of the New York City political writers.

Its motive is to put political bigwigs "on the pan" with good natured satire and rollicking tunes.

"Foam, Sweet Foam."

Tonight's theme was "Foam, Sweet Foam," and the opening act depicted a New York cafe bearing a sign "Closed since 1921 by order of Andrew Volstead." Along comes Uncle Sam, unmistakeably identified as Mr. Roosevelt, who rips off the padlock and enters, to find the bartender is his old sidekick, Al Smith.

"Will you take a place in my Cabinet—say, Secretary of Commerce?" asks the psuedo President-elect.

"I'd take it if I were as good as you at trading," retorts Smith, to which Roosevelt answers: "Well, I Garnered the nomination."

At another point Roosevelt asks Al: "What do you think my administration will need the most?"

Smith answers: "A four-leaf clover."

Wore Dual Costumes.

Federal job-seekers were given the laugh in a skit in which the participants wore dual costumes—the fronts being stiffly starched evening clothes and the backs nondescript rags. The entire cast joined in a song: "Franklin, Can You Spare a Job."

State officials also got a jocose pay-off, one skit depicting Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and his staff still at work at 2 a. m. William H. Kelley, Syracuse leader, calls up for an appointment and is told to come at 3:30—"Not p. m. but a. m.; we're on Lehman time."

OLIVER IS REMOVED TO MARION HOSPITAL

Fairfax Officials Deny Mob Violence on Suspect in Shooting Feared.

Denying that mob violence was feared, Fairfax County authorities yesterday declared that Lewis B. B. Oliver, 38, charged with attempting to kill his estranged wife, Barbara Ritchie Oliver, had been removed to the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Marion, Va., for mental observation.

It was explained that Oliver was removed after Judge Walter T. McCarthy of Circuit Court had granted a motion by Frank L. Ball, Oliver's counsel, for his removal.

Although authorities denied knowledge of suspicious persons being around the Fairfax Jail Tuesday night, it was admitted that Oliver and other prisoners had reported to Sheriff Eppa P. Kirby that they had seen such persons loitering around.

Oliver shot his estranged wife Sunday night at the home of her father, A. B. Ritchie, in Fairfax. She has been in a critical condition at Georgetown Hospital all week, but was reported slightly better yesterday.

That marvelous comedy is here!
Yes, we mean the comedy that has had Hollywood roaring ever since M-G-M conceived the bright idea of a fun film based on the careers of two beer-minded fellows awaiting the end of prohibition. It took a national event to provide the opportunity for this comedy—it's the chance that comes once in a lifetime! And M-G-M has embraced the opportunity with a laugh-riot that is a positive masterpiece of merriment. Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante have never been so funny, because they've never had an opportunity like this one before!

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 24, 1933 SPORTS

CRONIN VIEWS NATS AS STAND-PAT CLUB FOR 1933

G. U. and Pitt Fives Play At Tech

Tonight's Visitors Top League; Hargaden Hilltop Hope.

American, Gallaudet Close Season With Home Contests.

GEORGETOWN'S date with Pittsburgh's preying Panthers at Tech High features the card of three college court games bidding for public patronage tonight. American University closes its season on its own floor with the assistance of Virginia Medical College, while Gallaudet writes the final chapter to its 1933 record at Kendall Green, where it plays Baltimore U.

The Pitt-Hoya game has an important bearing on the outcome of the Intercollegiate League race, which the Smoky City delegation heads with four victories and no defeats. Only a game separates the leaders from the oncoming Carnegie Tech tossers and Georgetown can tie up the proceedings for Carnegie by stopping its guest tonight.

Hargaden Second in League Scoring.

Two of the league's leading scorers, angular Ed Hargaden, of Georgetown, and Don McCamant, of Pitt, will be striving to add to their totals. Hargaden ranks second in this respect with 54 points, with McCamant's 37 points giving him fourth.

Almost an attraction in himself is Pittsburgh's coach, Dr. H. C. Carlson. The doctor begins each season with a cheery prediction of an undefeated campaign. He did it one year and the team dropped 14 games. He has a habit of serving ice cream during practice sessions.

One of the most successful seasons American U. has enjoyed will be brought to an end tonight. The Eagles boast a winning streak of five straight and have won all but two of 13 games. George Williams, Al Buffington and Targes have been the team's most consistent performers.

Dr. Ralph Wilson Critically Injured

Suffers Brain Concussion in Indiana Bout Ending in Near Riot.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Examination of Dr. Ralph Wilson, Evansville, Ind., wrestler, after a bout which ended in a near riot here tonight, revealed he had suffered a brain concussion and intercranial hemorrhage, physicians at Ball Memorial Hospital said. He was reported in critical condition shortly after the bout.

In the midst of their tussle, ringsiders said, Wilson's opponent, Wee Willie Davis, grabbed Wilson and placing his head between the ring ropes on the side, started to choke him.

Referee Walter Fisher, former Indiana University wrestler, pulled Davis loose and knocked him down, releasing Wilson. Then Davis grabbed his opponent again.

The ring began to fill with spectators, who pulled Davis from Wilson again. The Evansville wrestler got on his feet and started to walk from the ring. He had taken only a few steps when he collapsed and was taken to the hospital.

A. A. U. Tournament Teams Swarm Post With Entries

Basket Ball Play-Offs at Tech High Draw 90 Clubs Seeking District Court Titles in 7 Classes.

THE Post Sports Department was the mecca for ambitious managers of the city's amateur basket ball teams last night as entries closed for the annual District of Columbia A. A. U. basket ball championships to be staged at Tech High School starting March 2 under the auspices of The Post for the seventh year.

Eager to post their entries before the deadline had expired at midnight, team managers swarmed into The Post to register their teams with A. A. U. officials on duty. The A. A. U. basket ball committee was still checking and rechecking entries at press time but indications are that all classes will be well filled with a cursory report showing more than 90 teams represented.

That the list would be swelled today is likely inasmuch as all entries in the mails before last midnight will be accepted.

The tournament has annually been the feature of the basket ball competition in the District and has been one of the few events to pack the Tech High gymnasium to capacity. The teams compete there under ideal conditions with members of The Post staff and A. A. U. officials supervising the play and approved board members handling the games.

An innovation this season will be the broadcasting system to describe the progress of the games. The loud speakers were engaged by Winfree Johnson, secretary of the local A. A. U.

As usual, the unlimited class has drawn the most entries with more than a score of teams seeking the honors won by the Sholl's team last year under the Saks banner. The Sholl's quintet will defend its title against competition that includes the Griffith Consumers, United Typewriter Grays, Bureau of Investigation, Utah State Society and Mount Vernon.

The keenest competition may develop in the 145-pound class which finds Olmsted Grill and the Potomac Boat Club as the pretournament favorites. The number of entries in the 130, 115 and 100 pound boys' classes and the junior and senior girls' divisions insures battles for the titles in each section.

To the winners will go the official A. A. U. medals to each player of the winning team in each section with team trophies also at stake.

The weighing-in ceremonies will start tomorrow afternoon at the Boys Club from 2 to 5 p. m. and tomorrow night from 7 to 10 p. m. They will continue Monday and Tuesday nights from 7 to 10 o'clock. No overweights are permitted.

CAMPBELL'S TRIALS END FOR YEAR

Forced to Let Records Stand; Injury to Wrist Reason.

By HENRY McLEMORE.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 23 (U.P.).—Sir Malcolm Campbell's hopes of adding the standing start mile mark to his collection of world's land speed records were ended today when physicians, after an examination of his injured left wrist, advised him to stay from the wheel of the giant Bluebird for several weeks.

Immediately following the physicians' decision, Campbell ordered his mechanics to prepare the Bluebird for shipment to England tomorrow. Campbell will follow the car on Tuesday and sail for England on the Aquitania March 3.

Before he sails Campbell plans to visit Toronto next week, where he will be the guest of the Empire Club.

"I am very disappointed that I won't be able to take a shot at the standing start mile and kilometer," Campbell said, "but the doctors told me any further aggravation of my wrist might result in permanent injury."

Injured in Test Run.

Campbell suffered the injury in his test run last week when, changing from second into high, the gear lever snapped back and cracked him a hard blow. The injury was aggravated during yesterday's run, in which he established a new land speed record of 272.108 miles an hour.

Asked today if he had any idea of retiring from racing, Campbell laughed and said:

"Not while I feel as young as I do. It's a long way off, but I hope to return to Daytona Beach next year and take another shot at the record."

Campbell spent much of his time today answering congratulatory telegrams and cables from all over the world.

"I have received an appalling number of messages," he said, "including ones from the Prince of Wales, the prime minister of Canada, Kaye Don and friends in South America, Denmark and Germany."

CELTICS WIN, 34-23, OVER EAGLES

1,200 See Lesson in Basket Ball by Visiting Pros.

A FEW surviving members of the original New York Celtic cast, aided by two recent additions, initiated the Aero Eagles into the intricacies of professional basket ball as it is played in the big leagues and came away from Tech High School with a 34-to-23 victory to show for their efforts before a crowd of 1,200 fans.

The Celtics played only as hard and as seriously as the occasion demanded, running up their total by brief flashes of the form that has made them a greatly feared club throughout the basket ball barnstorming circuit. The Eagles were never far out of the running, but each threat to narrow the margin was met by a spurt by the Celts.

The Celtics, with Dutch Dehnert working the pivot and block play to perfection, gave a masterful exhibition of blocking and picking off that caused the Eagles to resort to long shots for the bulk of time.

Celtics Put on Pressure.

In the last two minutes the Celtics fairly dazzled the local lads by their passing tactics with Davey Banks cutting with lightning speed to take passes from his mates.

The score at half time was 19 to 14 in favor of the Celts, whose superiority was clearly apparent despite the closeness of the count. Joe Lapchick invariably gained the tap-off at center over McMenamin and Berger to start the Celts' passing attack.

In the preliminary game, the Sholl quintet avenged its only defeat of the season by turning back the Griffith Consumers, 34 to 27, after leading, 18 to 16, at the half. Ingham's seven field goals provided the individual feature.

All Held Blameless In Death of Schaaf

New York, Feb. 23 (U.P.).—Assistant District Attorney James F. Daly today exonerated all persons connected with the Ernie Schaaf-Primo Carnera bout of any blame in connection with Schaaf's death.

Daly formally ended his investigation of the bout at Madison Square Garden, February 10. He accepted the report of Medical Examiner Charles Norris that Schaaf's previous brain condition, which might easily have escaped detection by his handlers and commission examiners, had contributed to the fatality.

Risko Slight Choice To Defeat Levinsky

New York, Feb. 23 (U.P.).—Johnny Risko, Cleveland "rubber man," was a slight favorite tonight to defeat King Levinsky, of Chicago, in their ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Until today Levinsky had been the choice at 6 to 5.

Their bout will mark the return of boxing to the Garden after a week's lapse, incident to the death of Ernie Schaaf.

Risko holds two decisions over Levinsky, but the second was a split vote, the referee giving the edge to Kingfish. Each is expected to weigh in at around 195 pounds.

3,500 Watch Judson Win On Foul

Near Riot Results as Garibaldi Is Ruled Out for Kicking.

Savoldi and Jones in Draw; Zaharias, Grobmier Win.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

THE oft-repeated tale of old Simon Legree and his bloodhounds has sent cold chills dancing up and down the spinal columns of all righteous-thinking folk for some years, but compared to Gino Garibaldi and his dogs Simon was a rank beginner. Garibaldi's match with Frank Judson last night at the Auditorium ended in a near-riot with all the trimmings when the Italian was disqualified by Referee Benny Bortnick for kicking his opponent in the groin. Previous to this the 3,500 fans present saw him open a nasty gash over Judson's right eye.

Standing in a neutral corner, Garibaldi, who had been warned several times before, saw Bortnick raise the unresisting hand of Judson in victory. He stalked across the canvas and flung himself on the unsuspecting Benny and began pummeling him.

The rotund arbiter, Garibaldi and Judson went down in a heap. Seconds of both participants clambered through the ropes to the aid of their charges and all lay writhing, pushing and punching on the mat like a huge, human devilfish.

Garibaldi Supporters Lacking.

Into the ring swarmed partisans of the two principals and for a fleeting moment it seemed as though the affair would culminate in a riot. But there were not enough Garibaldi supporters to make a real fight of it and a couple of cops appeared from nowhere and shooed everyone out of the enclosure.

Garibaldi's disqualification came 31 minutes after the start of the bout. The Italian employed rough tactics from the start, using his knees to good advantage in clinches and a strangle hold on other occasions.

Judson's walrus-like grunts of "oofh!" interspersed with the crowds jeers and cries of "Rub the grease off, smack the bum," and other stock phrases commonly employed on such occasions at wrestling matches, early in the match indicated its trend.

Both men frequently resorted to the Marquis of Queensbury rules when the going became unusually rough, but these sallies invariably ended with Judson enmeshed in one of Garibaldi's pet holds.

Jones and Savoldi In Draw.

The match terminated a program which Paul Jones and Joe Savoldi opened with a 30-minute struggle that ended in a draw. George Zaharias, whom Joe Turner would like to match with Garibaldi, if not afraid that they would wreck the joint, touched Marshall Blackstock's shoulders to the mat in 11½ minutes with a body slam.

Jim McMillan and Abe Coleman supplied the second 30-minute draw of the night just before Fred Grobmier entwined his legs about the person of Bruno Gorasini for victory after 10 minutes of their scheduled 45-minute match.

New York Mutuels O. K.'d by Governor

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. Lehman said today a proposed constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel betting at New York State's race tracks would "meet no opposition from me."

Assemblyman William Breitenbach, Brooklyn Democrat, has introduced a bill proposing an amendment legalizing this form of betting.

BILOXI BUNTS

By BOB CONSIDINE

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 23.—Heinie Manush remains unsigned, the last recalcitrant Nat, but nobody seems to be worrying about it down here. Clark Griffith received a letter from the weak-armed, heavy-hitting left fielder yesterday and answered it today, and, although he refused to reveal the contents most likely it was another of a series of communications between the two regarding the pruning of Heinie's $14,000 salary.

The truth of the matter is that Heinie is nobody's numbskull and is about as ready to sign as the beneficiary of a $50,000 life insurance policy. It seems that Heinie has a fine disrespect for Biloxi's brand of climate, and he avoids it as long as possible, preferring Florida's summer sunshine to the spring-like zephyrs of this stronghold of the smelt. Just as soon as it warms up a little more down here Heinie's honest brow will once more begin to pop perspiration of old Griffith institute.

Concentration is the only hope of a big league pitcher, according to Al Crowder, dean of the Washington pitching corps. Al, who affects soft, golf-knicker suits, says that he is totaly oblivious to baseball crowds while out on the mound. The only time he realizes that somebody is watching the game is when the mob is quiet, and one foghorn voice bellows forth from a fan in the back of the stands. Aside from that he has eyes only for the hitter and the catcher, and his ears are only windbreakers.

Incidentally, Al was greatly surprised to read in the papers that he had a sort of pitching machine rigged up in his home in Winston-Salem, and that he used it throughout the winter to keep in shape. He says that he never works out during the winter, but that if they ever invent a machine such as the sports writers described so faithfully, he'd certainly buy one.

Widmyer Defeats Al Kelly in Sprint

Maryland and Georgetown Aces Inches Apart in Informal Meet.

Earl Widmyer, University of Maryland's ace, finished inches ahead of Al Kelly, Georgetown speed merchant, in a 50-yard dash, the feature of an informal meet between the track teams of the two schools yesterday at the Hilltop. Widmyer was clocked in 5 and 2-5 seconds.

Saturday night at the New York A. C. games in New York Kelly led the Terrapin sprinter across the finish line in the 60-yard test. Both trailed Ed Seigel and Emmett Topping.

Widmyer was off with the bark of the gun, Kelly lagging a trifle at the start. As the pair tore down the boards amid a lane of cheering students from both schools, Kelly picked up possibly a half step, but could not come abreast of his fleet opponent. Their spikes were grounding out a symphony of splinters as they flashed across the finish line.

About 15 members of each team participated in the impromptu meet, while several hundred spectators looked on.

G. W. Swimmers Face Duke U. Team Here

George Washington University's swimming team will bring its season to a close tonight at the Ambassador pool, where it will oppose Duke University's natators starting at 8 o'clock. Admission will be free.

Dwyer Gormely, the Colonial breaststroke artist and member of the relay team, will make his debut in fancy diving tonight, substituting for Larry Bonner, whose injured back has forced him to the sidelines. Gormely has done about everything to be done in a swimming meet but dive.

No Show Tickets Sold On 2 Agua Longshots

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Feb. 23 (A. P.).—Two horses, one of which won and the other finished second, were given so little consideration in the parimutuel wagering at Agua Caliente today that not a ticket was sold on either horse to finish third.

Terror won the second race, paying $230 to win and $102 to place, but he was "out" to show. In the first race Secluded finished second and returned $36.20 for a $2 place ticket, but he had no backing to run third.

Grid Thrills Mark Indian Ball Game

Tackles and Aerials Are Features; Low Ticket Prices Continue.

Two of football's biggest thrills, tackling and forward passing, will be featured a week from today when the District inaugural committee offers a Cherokee Indian ball game at Central High School Stadium.

This is the main attraction of a double-header sports attraction, being preceded by a lacrosse game bringing together all-star teams of Annapolis and Baltimore. The lacrossmen tee off at 2:30.

Permitted to take the ball from the ground with bats, or racquets only, Indian ball contestants thereafter are permitted to advance it as best they can.

Man-sized tackles, however, are permitted those attempting to check the advance.

It was announced yesterday by the District inaugural committee that tickets would continue on a 50-cent for children and $1 for adult basis, this scale holding over, due to the fact that a Government pay day is due and to an unusual demand for reservations. Tickets are on sale at Spalding's, the main inaugural committee and hotel newsstands.

Rookies' Bids Seen as Not Serious

Only Travis, Bolton Conceded Chance to Make Grade.

Batting Order May Be Chief Problem of Joe Cronin.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 27.—Rain, in fact one of those tropical downpours made famous by its contact with the tin roof in "Sadie Thompson," beat down at a slanting Spencerian angle on Biloxi all day today, putting a definite quietus on the first real workout of the Washington Ball Club under the guidance of its new boy manager, blue-eyed, rosy-cheeked Joe Cronin.

The hotel lobby was jammed with ball players all morning, the arrival of Bob Friedericks having raised the player ante to seventeen men. They sat or stood near the windows watching the rain, assuring each other that it would stop any minute now, and there they remained the livelong day, except for an occasional rash of poker, or mass movements on the dining room, or a stab or two at the slot machine in the basement.

Before you ladies and gents go to sleep, it might be brought out that the day was not totally lacking in news. Manager Cronin admitted this afternoon that the 1933 team was pretty well decided already, and while there would be the customary attempts on the part of rookies to oust the accredited regulars, it began to look like there is no doubt whatever who will be on the team when it starts North.

Outfield Appears Airtight.

Cronin, at the moment, can't see anybody among the rookies who can break into that lambasting outfield line-up of Goslin, right; Schulte, center, and Manush, left. The infield of Kuhel, first base; Myer, second; Joe, shortstop, and Bluege, third, seems pretty well inviolate, the only cloud on the horizon so far as this quartet keeping their jobs being the new and untried Cecil Travis, the Chattanooga third baseman, with slugging propensities.

It seems most likely that the five starting pitchers will be Crowder, Weaver, Whitehill, Stewart and Al Thomas, followed by a sort of second-flight group of McAfee, Burke, Bud Thomas, Russell, Friedricks and Linke.

Luke Sewell, who is due to report tomorrow morning, will have to fight it out with Cliff Bolton, Cronin intimated, with Moe Berg, also among tomorrow's expected arrivals, appearing in his 1932 role again.

The major problem of this training camp thus is not who is going to play ball for Washington this year, but in what order they are going to stand up to the plate and make motions to the offerings of the enemy pitchers.

Griffith Has Ideas on Batting Order.

Griffith while he has issued a notice saying that Joe Cronin alone is the boss of the Nats this year and that there will be no henpecking from the front office, nevertheless put in a word on this general topic of the batting order today by stating that he'd like to see them line up at the plate in biological order, all the left-handers coming in a row, and then all the right-handers, followed by catcher and pitcher. I think Joe vetoed it.

Notably absent from the hotel lobby today were Chamber of Commercers, who were said to be busy

BROAD MEADOWS, UNDER RESTRAINT, WINS MIAMI FEATURE

Bradley Colt Beats I Pass By Length

Overtakes Hyman in Stretch to Win for Form Players.

HIALEAH PARK, Fla., Feb. 23 (A. P.).—The Miami Jockey Club offered as an attraction at Hialeah this afternoon the Redland Purse. This was a dash of 7 furlongs for 4-year-olds and upward, and Edward R. Bradley furnished the winner in Broad Meadows, who won in easy fashion by a length. I Pass finished second, two lengths in front of Hyman. There were only four starters and Broad Meadows was an odds-on choice.

When the break came the Bradley racer was off forwardly and taken up. He trailed Hyman until making the turn into the homestretch, where he dashed to the front and for the remainder of the journey raced under a pull. The winner ran the 7 furlongs in 1:24 1-5 and paid $3.80.

Threatening weather had its effect on the attendance and the crowd was light.

A stirring finish came with the running of the two-year-old race when Race Street, a recent arrival from New Orleans was up in the final strides to beat George D. Widener's Interruption out a nose. Interruption was favorite and was ridden by H. Bagur. Breaking rapidly Interruption went to the front and after they had gone 3 furlong he led Race Street by a length. When it came to a finish, Bellizzi put it over Bagur. King Saxon was third, beaten off two lengths for the place. The winner paid $9.10.

with Bill Bennings

MIAMI, FEBRUARY 23.

DEAR AL:

It looks like your friend Bennings just can't shake the jinx that is trailing him. Had horses on top in five races, but in the pay-off only one winner was recorded. I hate to burden you with this history. In the first, Iredell broke in front and finished fourth. Interruption was beaten a nose, after leading all the way, in the second. Then Chokoloskee faltered in the last strides to lose by a head. Chance Meeting was in front most of the trip, but curled to be third. Broad Meadows finally turned the trick in the fifth. Polar Brush ran an even fourth in the next, beaten three lengths for all of it. In the last, Contribute set the pace until the turn for home and was second.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—IRENE'S BOB has been sptinting so consistently I'm forced to place JUDGE PRIMROSE and his new found speed in the place hole. WISE COUNT looks like the show proposition. There has been much talk around about a wake-up by HONEY LOCUST, but I can't believe it in a field of this sort.

SECOND RACE—CURLING showed a flash of excellent speed the other day and I'm going to the Brookmeade Stable entry for the winner of this. BRAMBLE BROOM is the running mate. POLLY EGRET drew much wagering in her debut. DOUBTFUL GIRL has worked well and will get a lot of breaking from the railbirds.

THIRD RACE—Don't be surprised if Mr. Watts collects a purse in this maiden race with GRACIAS. Mike had him for a good thing the last time out and he ran third at 83-1. That race repeated should take care of these. HECLA and BRAN MUFFIN appear the best of the others.

FOURTH RACE—This race is fairly boiling over with speed and I'm going to a stout finisher for my top selection. FAIR IMAGE looks like the goods. Has been smartly handled and appears ready for a crack down. WISE ANNE and SKY HAVEN for the rest.

FIFTH RACE—ACTION and JUBILATE should battle it out for this purse. Both are in excellent shape and are formidable at the mile. I'm strong for PORTNER'S DREAM but it looks like this fellow is being saved for later.

SIXTH RACE—TEMPLE DANCER is a cheap sort but I'm going after a good price here. BLACK SHEEP and LIQUEUR can renew their recent battle with place as the prize.

SEVENTH RACE—MISS CORINNE and SOME KNIGHT to stage the principal part of the battle in the finale. ENGLEWOOD is being used a lot but could hold the show safe.

Hitting the Headpin

Michigan defeated Harvard in three games at the Rendezvous alleys last night to hold its lead in the Intercollegiate League, while Princeton tied Yale for second place by beating V. M. I. by two, while Yale was taking but one of three from Navy. In other games, Dartmouth made a sweep over Oregon, and Lehigh, Cornell and Pennsylvania won the odd game from Maryland, Brown and V. P. I.

Individual honors went to Van Doran, with high game of 141, and to Varto, who boasted a three-game total of 359. Maryland topped the teams with a 588 game, while Dartmouth's 1,506 set was high.

Elizabeth Minson and her Labor team were outstanding last night at Arcadia in the Ladies' Federal League. Miss Minson's 130 and 327 topped individuals, while the Labor team showed the way with a 544 game and a 1,516 set.

Earnshaw and Morton Salts made a winning combination in the Nation-Wide League at Convention Hall. The individual marks were 126 and 334, while 508 and 1,435 were the team figures.

In the Daylight League, Fred Buchholz showed the way to his Occidental five, having 136 and 382, while his team topped with 565 and 1,591.

Construction and Engineering knocked down the most wood in the Killowatt League, with respective figures of 550 and 1,616. Hayes' had a 183 game and Doane a 371 set.

Hydrographic's 1,657 set was best in the War Department League, with the Barbettes boasting the best game, 572. Warman's 136 and Matson's 376 topped among individuals.

Cost and DuBois were high guns in the Interstate Commerce Examiners' League at Columbia last night. The team marks were 585 and 1,576, while DuBois knocked down 118 maples in one game and 372 in three.

Hialeah Park's Crowds Betting Surpasses 1932

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23 (A.P.).—Hialeah Park continued to show an increase in attendance and parimutuel betting in the official figures released for the first 30 days of the 45-day meeting today.

The attendance showed an increase of nearly 100 per cent, 106,564 passing through the turnstiles as compared with 54,855 for a similar period last year. The parimutuel handle was up nearly 22 per cent over 1932. Of the $5,261,071 wagered, the State received $157,832.12.

Pat Walker Winner Of Badminton Singles

In the semifinals of the women's singles, Mary Ryan defeated Mrs. Howard Ford, 11—9, 7—11, 11—7 and Mrs. Thompson defeated Mrs. Graham, 11—4, 10—10, 5—1. The finals will be played today.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

IT comes on pretty good authority that the Federal Radio Commission will not hand down decisions in the WMAL and WJSV cases until after the new administration gets into the saddle on March 4.

M. A. Leese, owner of WMAL, is seeking permission to lease his station to the National Broadcasting Co. It is the purpose of the latter to use it as an outlet for WJZ network programs. The charge is that this would give the chains a monopoly of the local broadcasting stations.

WJSV has been cited by the Navy Department because it is said to cause serious interference with the research work being conducted in the laboratory at Bellevue, D. C., only a mile away. The Navy seeks the removal of WJSV to a place farther away from the Naval Research Laboratory.

Edwin C. Hill will present Amelia Earhart, aviation's leading lady, during the fifth "Inside Story" broadcast over WJSV at 9:30 o'clock.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will make her last appearance on the Pond's program over WRC at 9:30 o'clock.

Within a few minutes after Lucrezia Bori had spoken to a radio audience from the stage where "Tannhauser" was broadcast at the Metropolitan Opera House Saturday afternoon, her appeal for all interested in the Metropolitan's future to join in providing a guarantee fund for its continuance next season was met by an unexpected response. A messenger delivered to the opera's spokesman a sealed envelope. Miss Bori opened it, exclaiming as she did so, "This is from the wife of the President-elect of the United States."

The following was the letter:

Dear Miss Bori:

Your appeal over the air in behalf of the opera has made a great impression on me and I wish to have a share in raising the fund needed to assure a continuance of Metropolitan Opera next season. I am therefore sending you this small contribution.

It is my earnest hope that many others who enjoy the opera over the air will be moved to take a part in this worthy effort.

With all good wishes, I am

Cordially yours,
ELEANOR ROOSEVELT.
(Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.)

Miss Bori did not make public the amount of the contribution.

AL JOLSON will conclude his Chevrolet series for the radio with the program at 10 o'clock tonight over WRC. According to reports from New York, Jolson has not been satisfied with his recent broadcasts. He feels he could have done much better had he been given a free hand with his programs.

How Congress dealt a death blow to prohibition by passing the Blaine resolution calling for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment will be dramatized during the "March of Time" over WJSV at 8:30 p. m. In addition to reproducing scenes that took place in the House of Representatives this week, there will be a flashback in 1917, when the eighteenth amendment was first submitted to the States.

Another current events reenactment will be concerned with the trial of Giuseppe Zangara, would-be assassin of President-elect Roosevelt.

COL. RICHARD C. PATTERSON, N. B. C. executive, believes that acting should be done by the staff actors and that executives should save their time for duties of their department. He has issued an edict restraining all executives from appearing on sustaining programs.

Also that the continuity writers will not be paid extra for sustaining scripts written during office hours.

Jane Froman, pretty young singing star who made her first appearance on the Chesterfield series, returns with Leonard Hayton's music tonight (WJSV, 9 o'clock). She will offer "Farewell to Arms," "Throw a Little Salt on the Blue Bird's Tail" and "Lover, Come Back to Me."

CONSIDERING who he is, Nelson B. Bell's "Stooge" writes a fairly good column. Anyway, he doesn't seem to have much trouble getting it over the managing editor's desk. And since he was good enough to tip us off that Jack Pearl, the "Baron Munchausen," is to appear at the Actor's Fund Inaugural Show on March 5, here's a report which the "Stooge" might verify for his column.

Our friend, Dr. Robert E. ("Pete") Moran told us, though he had not yet seen the picture, he had heard that the principal character in "Topaze," at RKO-Keith's this week, was portrayed so well by John Barrymore because of his acquaintance with the late Father Tondorff, of Georgetown University. John Barrymore is said to have attended Georgetown for a short time.

The "Topaze" character and that of the Washington professor differ in that Father Tondorff was an internationally famous seismologist and astronomer, who had no commercial interests. Otherwise, friends of Father Tondorff are said to see a strong portrayal of him in the current motion picture.

The first time we ever heard the expression "Stooge" was years ago in Indiana, when Henry K. Burton, an actor who had turned reporter, always called Claude G. Bowers, now nationally famous, then our promising young editorial writer, "Stooge" Bowers. None of us on the paper knew at that time what "Stooge" meant and we doubt if even Claude knew until much later.

SPEAKING of "Indi-onnoh," as one of our good friends in the East calls it, A. D. Hayworth, prominent Washington printer, formerly of "Terry Hut," is the father of Vinton Haworth, leading man in "Myrt and Marge" and several other important radio productions originating in Chicago. One branch of the Hayworth family spells it with a "y" and another branch omits the "y."

That's why a good many of his Washington friends are not aware of the fact that Vinton Haworth— a native Washingtonian and a recent visitor here—is a son of "A. D."

With Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin as the administration's chief guitarist, Andy Sannella and Prof. Walter T. Holt may find themselves in fast company.

Leo Reisman spends a lot of time picking up French and Spanish broadcasts to keep informed on the latest tangoes. When he likes one, he cables for it and gives it its American premiere.

JESSICA DRAGONETTE will sing "Cielito Lindo," "Land of My Own Romance," and "Just A-Wearyin' for You," when she goes on the air at 8 o'clock tonight over WRC. "Marcheta," Victor Schertzinger's love song of old Mexico, will be sung as a tenor duet by Frank Parker and Henry Shope.

Florida Outlaw Nemesis Dies.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (A. P.).—Sheriff Robert C. Baker, 45, nemesis of Florida's notorious Ashley gang of a few years ago, died at his home here today. He had suffered no previous illness and physicians ascribed his death to cerebral hemorrhage.

Bob White

The Old Philosopher

SAYS:

Question—Do you believe in spanking little children?

Answer—I can not conceive of a more difficult question to answer. I should say, to be on the safe side, yes and no.

There is such a thing as sparing the rod and spoiling the child . . . and spoilt children do not reflect favorably on the parents.

I believe it is better to rule by reason than by rancour, and many parents in the heat of temper spank the children, when often the children are not to blame. They have just been irritating.

With some children words no not suffice. That is because they have not been taught to respect the command of mother or father. The children then are not to blame . . . the parents are.

To spank them then is willfully wrong.

Where the child respects the rod more than the parents' voice . . . the rod is necessary.

It should be remembered always that the child has the temperament and traditions of both parents, and if there is a spurt of temper it may often be traced to one or the other or both. It is wrong to punish children for what may be a heritage.

It is better to rule by love than fear where it is possible. Many children have been brought up, however, to have a sacred regard for daddy's strap or a 12-inch ruler.

Bob White, the old philosopher, will answer an outstanding question each week day on this page. He is heard twice daily over WMAL, at 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Dr. George L. Farnham Addresses Kiwanis Club

Dr. George L. Farnham, pastor of the Cleveland Park Congregational Church, was the principal speaker yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Raleigh Hotel. His subject was "Old Wine and New Bottles."

Dr. Farnham was introduced by Alvin W. Hall, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, who was chairman of the meeting. Charles W. Pimper, vice president of the Security Storage & Transfer Co., of Washington, was elected a director of the club. Dewey Zirkin, president, presided.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—If the return to something like boom days in southern Florida is an index of corner turning, Old Jonas Q. Depression has taken the curve on two wheels. The situation down here, contrasted with what you hear and see back home, is flabbergasting. It almost seems like an optical illusion.

• • • •

Believe it or not, Miami and Miami Beach are jammed with people who look very much like the preslump model. The hotels are well filled, the streets are congested, the beaches are dotted with bathers, and a close investigation reveals that everybody present is using real money.

• • • •

Your correspondent thought the barter plan must be in order and that all these carefree appearing folks were getting waterfront rooms in exchange for live poultry, and that all those mutuel tickets at the horse-race and dog-race tracks were being obtained in exchange for a pumpkin, a dozen eggs and a Vienna roll, but personal experience shattered any such idea.

• • • •

This is no local booster's dream. Your correspondent has seen and touched. And it is bewildering and perplexing to find this winter resort teeming with tourists, all of whom deny any assistance from the R. F. C.

• • • •

Finding room to park a car on Biscayne boulevard, Miami, is one of the few ordeals of Florida life. The rush of cars across the causeway between Miami and the beach is back to the prebust level.

• • • •

Many of the cars are of the standard tin-can variety, but there are costly and shiny limousines from every State in the land. Is Florida the State from which Old Man Depression is starting his retreat?

• • • •

Admittedly, apartments, cottages and hotel rooms (in some places) may be had for a song this winter, and it may be that Florida is simply seeing an influx of good singers.

• • • •

Skeptics say that it means nothing as applied to the depression and that the big crowd is explainable by the theory that thousands of people realized they could live on as little money in Florida as back home and at the same time put over three fast strikes on influenza, pneumonia and the Northern sniffles.

• • • •

But it costs money to come to Florida, even if you are a hitch-hiker. And the mad, mad mob tearing up two-dollar tickets at the horse and dog tracks day and night indicates that "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?" is not the national theme song.

• • • •

Still, maybe it means nothing except that the doctor ordered more people away for a rest this year.

AND USE PAPER FLOWERS?

The depression, according to the papers, has cheapened weddings. They now throw artificial rice and show the bride and groom photographs of Niagara Falls.

AND SHEAR THE PIGS.

"White Collar Men to Run Farms."—headline. Don't forget to make the cows scratch for worms and turn the hens out to pasture.

Speaking of the Senate summons of industrial leaders to Washington to give their ideas of ending the depression, one big business man is reported to have said, "If I knew what to do to revive good times I'd incorporate the charge for the ideas."

Ima Dodo thinks that "Piccolo" is a domestic tragedy about a man and fife.

A burglar broke into a golf club down South last week and broke open the safe. Talk about an optimist!

Gotwals' Five-Day Plan Is Approved

Bride Says Policy Is Legal on Construction in District.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride yesterday approved the proposal of Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, that all District construction jobs be placed on a five-day week basis. The new policy is expected to be placed in effect as soon as a report is received from Maj. D. J. Donovan, auditor.

The proposal was declared legal so long as the working time is noted in specifications and contracts, Mr. Bride held. Auditor Donovan will have to determine, probably after a conference with Comptroller General McCarl, whether the requirements can be properly included in contracts.

The policy probably will be applied only in construction for which no contracts have been signed unless contractors voluntarily place their employes on the new schedule.

Locke Shoes Added By Hecht Company

Exclusive Capital Agency for Famous Footwear Is Announced.

Announcement that it had obtained the exclusive agency here for M. W. Locke shoes for men and women was made yesterday by the Hecht Co.

Locke shoes are designed by Dr. M. W. Locke, a foot specialist living in a small village in Ontario, Canada, who is said to conduct the largest "one man medical practice" in the world.

Dr. Locke is probably the most successful treater of foot ailments. He treats as many as 1,500 persons a day at his clinic. All his patients are required to wear the shoes he prescribes.

Police School Is Approved.

Approval of the plan of Maj. E. W. Brown, superintendent of police, to establish a school for police sergeants, with the opening scheduled March 6, was announced yesterday by Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police Commissioner.

BRIDE OF 3 MONTHS SAVED AFTER LEAP IN EASTERN BRANCH

Four Dive in to Rescue Her; Quarrel With Husband Blamed by Girl.

Three of Uncle Sam's bluejackets and an alert-minded chain grocery clerk joined forces at dusk yesterday in the thrilling rescue of a winsome 18-year-old bride of three months who leaped from the Anacostia Bridge into the chill Eastern Branch after a turbulent quarrel with her husband.

At Casualty Hospital the young woman—declared to be Mrs. Ruby Price, whose exact address could not be learned—was reported to be on the road to recovery unless pneumonia set in as a result of a 20-minute drenching in the cold stream.

Her husband appeared at the hospital shortly after she was taken there in the Fire Rescue ambulance, and attaches said the two "made up" at their meeting.

Seen Leaning Over Rail.

The actual rescuers were John Brewster, 24-year-old third-class fire-control man, stationed at the naval receiving station adjacent to the bridge, and Joseph E. Bunch, 21, manager of a Sanitary Grocery Store, who lives at 3506 Nichols avenue southeast.

Mrs. Price was seen by bridge attendants leaning moodily over the rail. She was observed at several places along the span gazing into the murky torrent. No one saw her leap, but suddenly her screams were heard.

Brewster was finishing a game of tennis on the navy yard courts near the water's edge. He heard the girl's screams 300 yards upstream. Tearing off jumper and shoes, he plunged in.

Cuts Gash in Leg.

Behind him two other bluejackets of the same rank, Hugh Moore, 24, and Edward Cragen, 23, dived into the water. Brewster, however, a champion swimmer, was far ahead and the two decided to turn back. One, Moore, cut a deep gash in his leg when he jumped a barbed-wire fence on his way to the water.

As Brewster swam toward the young woman—who had begun to attempt to save herself—bridge attendants threw out life preservers and fire rescue and police apparatus shrieked toward the scene. Then Bunch, who said he had spent much of his life near the water, appeared.

Bunch took in the situation at a glance. He parked his car on the bridge and rushed down to the north shore. He soon found a skiff tied to a dredge. Two other young men, Lewis Jameson, of 1132 Penn street northeast, and John A. Lapponio, of 150 D street southeast, jumped in, too.

Hauled Into Skiff.

As Mrs. Price was about to sink, Brewster arrived and almost simultaneously the skiff, oared by Bunch, reached the scene. The bluejicket and the rescued girl were hauled in.

When Bunch returned to his machine, he found that his uncle, Maj. B. L. Eaton, retired, U. S. A., had been threatened several times by policemen with a traffic violation charge if he did not move the machine left by the rescuer.

At the hospital Mrs. Price told physicians she and her husband had quarreled in the afternoon and that the squabble had ended with a scuffle in which her arm was slightly hurt. The abrasion was treated by the physicians.

Mrs. Price gave an address on Chicago street southeast, but at the number she indicated it was said neither she nor her husband was known. The couple, Casualty attaches learned, had returned to Washington about two days ago after a trip to West Virginia.

Brewster and his two friends returned to their nearby quarters after the excitement, suffering nonetheless for their experience.

Polite Robber Obtains $10 at Laundry Office

A polite but businesslike robber late yesterday held up Mrs. Diana Dalgish, manager of a laundry office at 1835 K street northwest, and forced her to hand over the contents of the cash register amounting to about $10.

Flourishing a revolver as he entered, the robber said: "Let me have your money, lady!" On receiving the money, he warned her to remain behind the counter, backed out of the office and hailed a taxicab.

HOUSE UNIT REPORTS D. C. 3.05 BEER BILL

Weathers Committee Fight to Win Dubious Berth on Floor Calendar.

The Tydings 3.05 per cent District beer bill, substituted for the Black 3.2 per cent measure, yesterday barely weathered the stormiest session of the House District Committee on record to be placed in dubious status on the House calendar.

As reported, the bill incorporates two amendments by Representative James L. Whitley (Republican), New York. One would deny a license to any one convicted of a felony. The other would grant "on sale" licenses only to incorporated clubs, as well as restaurants and hotels.

There were charges and counter charges during yesterday's battle of District Committee drys and wets. Wet Chairman Mary T. Norton accused Dry Representative Wright Patman of breaking his agreement not to filibuster. Representative Patman accused the wet majority of mob rule.

The debate was limited to fifteen minutes. Representative Smith (Democrat), Virginia, objected strenuously. When the bill finally was reported under the limitation, he announced he will raise a point of order against it on the House floor, that the bill never was read in committee. He predicted this would kill it. Judge Smith said he expected to vote for a beer bill, but he wanted a better balanced one than that reported out yesterday.

During much of the meeting most every member was talking at once. Representative Loring Black, jr. (Democrat), New York, was busy moving the previous question, while Patman made points of order, demanded a roll call, offered an amendment for 1 per cent beer.

Before the furore over the beer bill, the King bill to regulate the practices of professional bondsmen in the District was tabled, after Patman had been charged with using it in his filibuster. Mrs. Norton expects to call a special session for its consideration.

RENOVIZE CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY PLANNED

Committee to Ask Help of Employers in Capital Is Appointed.

Plans for a city-wide campaign of publicity and group solicitation to familiarize local citizens with the objects of the Renovize Washington drive were mapped yesterday afternoon at headquarters of the Board of Trade.

The following were named members of the solicitation group which will lay the foundation for the campaign:

Claude W. Owen, W. W. Everett, L. P. McLachlin, E. J. Murphy and Fleming Newbold. Frank Addison, local banker, will head the finance committee.

The first step of the group solicitation committee will be to obtain the cooperation of Washington employers in the campaign, so that they may place the advantages of the proposals before their employes. If this plan is carried out, the employers would indorse loans for employes.

Will Ask Cooperation.

Arthur B. Heaton, local architect, general chairman of the campaign committee, will ask the Washington Advertising Club to cooperate in a publicity drive, when he speak to this group at a luncheon meeting at 12:30 p. m. today at Raleigh Hotel. Unaffiliated representatives of business and the professions are urged to attend.

Members of the committee present at yesterday's meeting expressed the opinion that many people are being given a wrong interpretation of the purposes of the campaign, because overemphasis is being placed on the idea of borrowing money, it was said. Recommendation was made that the publicity to be disseminated through press and radio stress the paramount object of the campaign as the improvement of homes and property and stimulation of trade and employment.

Await Further Details.

Actual loans from the $500,000 credit pool will not be made until further details have been completed, it was announced.

Special efforts will be made to interest Government employes in the campaign, it was decided. An offer of cooperation was received from the United States-District of Columbia Employment Service, where names of 25,000 unemployed persons in Washington are on file.

Building Permit Asked For Metropolitan Site

United Motor Terminals, Inc., applied at the office of District Building Inspector Oehmann yesterday for a permit to construct a one-story brick and concrete bus terminal and stores building near the northwest corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Sixth street northwest, on the site of the former Metropolitan Hotel.

The estimated cost of the building is listed at $185,000. Consolidated Engineering Co., Baltimore, will be the builder and Milburn & Heister, of this city, are the architects. The building will have a 140-foot frontage on Pennsylvania avenue, one of 180 feet on C street northwest and one of 90 feet on Sixth street northwest. It will be 21 feet high.

TRAFFIC TOLL

TO DATE.

Good brakes are essential to keeping the accident toll to a minimum. If motorists will realize there are just two ways of stopping an automobile they undoubtedly will come to the conclusion that it is much more preferable to stop by means of their brakes than to crash into some object. Inspect your brakes regularly and keep them in good condition.

The accident figures to date are:

	1932.	1933.
Deaths	18	10
Injuries	543	496
Accidents	1,183	1,228

4 IN ECKLUND TRIAL TRY TO SHIFT BLAME IN PAYROLL MURDER

Cash and Blackwell Accuse Each Other of Planning Crime Near Capitol.

The spectacle of four alleged murderers, each striving desperately to evade the electric chair by trying to shift the blame for the Ecklund murder to the others, was witnessed by the crowded courtroom yesterday as the trial of the alleged killers hovered near the close.

As a sidelight to the fight against the executioner, the audience heard Albert E. Cash ascribe as his motive for the holdup the desire to obtain money to secure a divorce from the sister of Everett Lee Blackwell, one of the other defendants.

The two white defendants, Blackwell and Cash, were on the stand most of the day. Each tried to shift the responsibility for the murder to the other, as well as to the two colored defendants, Fewel Workman and Claude Myers. The latter, in turn, have named Cash and Blackwell as the prime movers in the killing of Einer H. Ecklund during an attempted pay roll holdup near the new House Office Building January 20.

Jury May Get Case Today.

The defense case is expected to close early today. Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins may introduce one rebuttal witness. Counsel on both sides intend to get the case before the jury before nightfall, if possible.

Dressed in a dark gray suit, white shirt and black tie, the 20-year-old Cash took the stand. His mother in the front row leaned forward and listened intently as her son told in low tones the story of the holdup and murder. His attorney, James A. O'Shea, asked:

"Why did you give yourself up to the police?"

"My brother told me to."

"Which one?"

"Oscar."

"Did you make this statement?" (showing him the alleged confession of the crime.)

"Yes."

"Was the story true you told the police that you had been held up by two colored men and taken to Rockville?"

"No."

"What caused you to tell the truth?"

Exculpates Two Others.

"The police told me a man had been killed and said if I gave the names of the others it would be easier for me."

Here Cash testified Blackwell had tried to get him to hold up a garage and a rooming house.

On the day of the murder, he said, he and Blackwell went to the scene in Cash's taxicab.

"Workman and Myers went near the scene," he said, "and I stopped the car on New Jersey avenue between B and C streets. I drove up slow from the middle of the block."

"Did Workman say 'I had to shoot him?'"

"No, he said, 'I had to shoot.' I had begged them not to shoot and not to use the guns."

At this point he told the jury that his brother, Oscar Cash, and his brother-in-law, Clyde Templeton, both of whom are held as accessories, were free from any guilty knowledge of the crime. "My brother told me it would be best for me to turn myself in," he said.

Reason for Ammunition.

"Did you ever attempt to use force on Myers or Workman if they did not go through with the holdup?"

"I did not."

"Why were guns used in the holdup?"

"Blackwell and Workman refused to go through with the job without ammunition. I told him Ecklund was an old man and they had no need of being scared of him."

On cross-examination Mr. Collins asked:

"You said Blackwell suggested this holdup?"

"Yes."

"But you were the only one who knew it was payday, isn't that right?"

"Yes."

"And you were the only one who knew how the pay was made?"

"Yes."

"And you were the only one who knew Ecklund went to the bank?"

"Yes."

Hits Workman Defense.

"Your brother had gone to the bank with him a few times?"

"Yes."

"Were there any differences between you and Ecklund?"

"Yes."

"You had had trouble with Ecklund when you worked there, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Was there any ill-feeling between you and Ecklund when you left the concern?"

"No."

Then Cash gave damaging evidence against Workman, who is claiming insanity as a defense. On the stand, Workman talked in a rambling monotone.

"Did you ever hear Workman talk as he did on the stand?" asked Mr. Collins.

"I never heard him talk that way before."

Blackwell Claims Alibi.

On examination by F. Joseph Donohue, the attorney for Blackwell, Cash admitted that he had loaded the guns, that were used in the hold-up.

Blackwell appeared in court yesterday with his left eye blackened. He said he received it in a fight at the jail. His opponent was not one of the other defendants in the case, he said.

Blackwell, who is a slim youth of 20, denied he was present at the holdup. He insisted he withdrew from the plot. He admitted that he worked in concert with others on the planning, but denied he had been near the scene. Witnesses were introduced in attempt to prove he was elsewhere when the crime occurred.

He accused Cash of having given him the money to buy ammunition for the guns, on January 13, when they originally planned the robbery.

Then, he said, he asked Cash not to use the guns or he wouldn't go through with the robbery.

REPEALISTS SCORED AT RALLY OF W.C.T.U.

Authors of Black Beer Bill Are Criticized by Charles Pidgeon.

A caustic opinion of the minds and motives of some members of Congress who favor prohibition repeal and modification was uttered last night at a temperance rally held at the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church under auspices of the Kalorama Heights Union of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

In speaking of the recent repeal vote at the Capitol, Canon William Sheafe Chase, superintendent of the International Reform Federation, said it was "an alliance of corrupt machines of both parties which brought force on congressmen so they did what they did not want to."

Charles Pidgeon, who was introduced as a member of the Society of Friends, declared that the backers of the Black beer bill were of "low intelligence and no morals." The bill, he said, proposes the debauching of from 10 to 20 per cent of the Nation's people to gain revenue. In closing, he declared there should be an eleventh commandment, "There shall be no beer, wine or other alcoholic beverages."

The principal speaker was Francis D. Nichol, associate editor of the Review and Herald Publishing Association. He devoted much of his period to describing the alliance of the saloon with organized vice during the pre-prohibition era. The reading of a newspaper clipping telling of persons blinded by drinking Jamaica ginger before prohibition days brought applause from his friends.

In a short talk, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley stated that the eighteenth amendment "was the writing of the Golden Rule into the Constitution."

Dr. John C. Palmer, pastor of the edifice in which the rally was held, presided.

Immaculata Dance Postponed.

PAINTERS CONTINUE STRIKE AS PARLEYS FAIL IN ADJUSTMENT

Federal and Private Jobs Affected by Tie-up; Row With Carpenters.

The controversy between union painters and subcontractors on three Government and one private projects here remained unsettled last night and the strike is still on today.

R. F. Whalen, business agent of the painters' union, said last night that several parleys yesterday with the subcontractors failed to produce an agreement.

Federal Projects Affected.

The Federal projects affected are the new Senate and House office buildings and the Public Health Service Building, while the private enterprise is the Science Building of Georgetown University.

A controversy arose yesterday between carpenters employed in construction of two completed inaugural stands and the contractor therefor, Bahen & Wright, of 914 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

Carpenters Claim $11.

The carpenters claimed that they had been promised $11 a day to conform with union wages, while the contractors said they had merely advanced more money on the first two weeks of the job in order to keep the men in good standing with the union. At the end of the work, the contractors said money was deducted from the carpenters' envelopes to make up the difference.

Meanwhile, it was learned, a general contractor on the extensive Federal program in the Mall has received formal notification of the decision of the Treasury Department that $11 was the wage prevailing for carpenters.

What action the subcontractor in the carpenters' wage row will take yesterday remained problematical.

Self-Defense Plea Saves Man Accused of Murder

A jury in the court of Chief Justice A. A. Wheat yesterday acquitted Robert Brooks, colored, of a charge of first degree murder. Brooks was charged in an indictment with having shot Reed Johnson, colored, to death last June.

Through Attorneys John H. Wilson and F. J. Derricote, Brooks explained that Johnson was the aggressor and that he bore a reputation as a "bad man." Chief Justice Wheat instructed the jury that there was no evidence of either first or second degree murder and that their verdict should be guilty of manslaughter or acquittal.
